The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 105 Main Street, R. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutters, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE CHINESE BILL.
Last Tuesday President Arthur sent in his veto of the Chinese bill. The reasons given in the message were that the measure was a breach of faith with China, and unwarranted by our treaty relations with that nation. Facts and arguments are adduced by the President in support of his position and veto.

The act of the President is heartily endorsed by a large majority of the Republican Senators and Representatives and the few from the Pacific slope who were in favor of the measure say but little concerning its defeat. The bill was so manifestly opposed to the spirit of our government and institutions that it failed to receive the support of candid and right-thinking people, and President Arthur did the proper thing when he vetoed it.

LICENSE.
There was a remarkable change in the vote on the license question last Monday from the year before. Then the majority against license was about 125; this year the majority in favor was nearly 900. We are unable to account for the great change in public sentiment, and therefore leave the solution of the problem to wiser heads than we make any pretension to carrying.

When we stated that Mr. J. G. Maguire is the leader of the Woburn Democracy the accuracy of our statement was questioned. Now, to sustain the declaration, we offer good Democratic testimony, namely, our genial neighbor Mr. M. Allen, who says Mr. Maguire has twice lead the Democratic party here to "inglorious defeat." That settles it. It is very seldom the JOURNAL makes a mistake in stating facts.

It was voted on Monday to place the town Sinking Fund in the custody of a commission of three members. These will be chosen next Monday evening, when care should be taken to get good men. It is an important position and should be filled by responsible persons. It is more than likely that Dr. J. M. Harlow will be chosen as one of the commissioners, and Mr. James Skinner another—both well fitted for the place.

THE ELECTION.
It is our unpleasant duty to make record of the fact that the Dutch have taken Holland again. They swooped down on the town last Monday like a great army with banners; or, to employ a more appropriate figure, like wolves on the fold. They came in companies, in squads—singly and in pairs, and swept all before them like the besom of destruction. Sadly we are compelled to acknowledge that

THE DEMOCRACY CARRIED THE DAY.
There were several reasons why they carried the day, the most important of which was, they cast the most votes.

Generally speaking the party that casts the most votes wins. Our experience in Woburn and observation elsewhere have taught us this fact.

The poll was a fairly large one—2000—though the lists show that a great many staid away from Town Meeting, presumably Republicans.

If all the Republicans in town had voted the result might have been otherwise.

This however is true: the caucuses gave us a first rate ticket: the Town Committee planned well and were liberal: the vote-distributors and canvassers worked first rate on election day.

The Democratic ticket, taken by and large, was not a strong one in any sense of the word. And there were conflicting interests, bickerings and heart-burnings in the Democratic camp. There were factions—fighting-factions—and the quarrels were not settled until midnight on Sunday: even then some had to eat crow—lots of it.

But all that went for nothing. One time, Ben Butler, alluding to family broils among the feline population, in his customary polished diction, said: "more fighting, more cats," which applies pretty well to the Democracy—the more they fight among themselves the stronger they grow numerically.

The figures below are not comforting to the Republican heart. We had all hoped for better things. We gave the people a cleaner ticket to vote for than the Democrats did, and yet an inscrutable Providence denied us that success to which we thought ourselves entitled.

The Dutch took Holland.

The election passed off with the accustomed quiet, which is nothing to brag on. A good deal of rum was drunk, and fights among the unuttered were quite frequent. During the counting of the ballots the hoodlums raised particular ghemmas, as they generally do, but ought not to be allowed.

The fight made by the Democracy was one of nationality to quite an extent. This came of the Maguire, an adopted citizen, faction being in the ascendant. The Democratic ticket for Selectmen contained the names of two native Americans, six adopted citizens, and one who, it was reported on Tuesday, is not a citizen of the United States.

On the other hand, without reference to nationality, how could a better, cleaner or stronger ticket have been found than that presented by the Republicans?

But it is all over with, and the Dutch took Holland.

WINCHESTER.

The JOURNAL seems to give the Star a good deal of uneasiness, when it hadn't ought to. The JOURNAL don't mean to be hard on the Star.

There was fun and frolic here Fast Day with some little church-going. Sports and games were in the ascendant. The day was lovely.

The K. of H. had a pleasant time in Harmony Hall last Friday evening. The amusements consisted of music, literary exercises, dancing, etc.

Some errors crawled into the JOURNAL's report of the town meeting; but the Advertiser needn't feel so stuck up because he got names and figures not very far from right.

The musical and literary entertainment given in Harmony Hall last week Thursday by Mrs. W. H. Bailey and Miss Isabella Livingston, with able assistance, was a very fine affair, and well attended.

Perhaps there was no truth in the statement of the JOURNAL that Rev. C. J. Staples would become, by and by, the pastor of the Unitarian Society here—perhaps not; but just wait and see.

The adjourned Town Meeting was held on Saturday evening. It was voted to authorize the Water Commissioners to borrow $25,000, and issue scrip for the same. The meeting was a very large and animated one, and was adjourned to Monday evening, April 10.

In relation to the very excellent selection for a member of the Boston Board of School Supervisors in the person of Mr. Robert C. Metcalf, a Hub journal says:

"No one will question his eminent fitness for the position. It is a promotion which has an abundance of honest and intelligent work to justify it, and it is a promotion of the right sort."

The School Board have organized. A. S. Hall was chosen Chairman; Eugene Tappon, Secretary, and E. A. Wadleigh, Prudential Committee. G. W. Spurr and Andrew Todd were appointed Truant Officers. Authority was given to employ Mrs. Bailey to take charge of the music in the High School. Mr. Wadleigh and Mrs. Metcalf were appointed a committee to examine the matter of Superintendent of Schools and report. Sub-committees were allotted to the various schools.

The board of management of the Winchester High School Association recently held a meeting and elected or admitted about twenty-five new members, and decided to have the re-union at quarter of eight o'clock, on Friday evening, April 21, in Harmony Hall. The programme will include literary and musical entertainment by the best talent, a collation, and dancing. The membership of the Association is now over a hundred and more desirous of joining. The names of graduates or past members, with the annual fee of fifty cents, can be sent to the president, Mr. H. A. Emerson, or to the treasurer, Mr. George H. Huse.

A very pleasing close to the efforts in our town in aid of the New England Hospital for Women and Children was the visit, a few days ago, of the ladies of the committee to the Hospital in Roxbury, where they had the pleasure of placing in the hands of the Resident Physician, Dr. Smith, the proceeds of the two performances of the Flower Queen. These reached the handsome sum of one hundred and one dollars, net, and, with fifty-two dollars already handed in as the result of the coffee party in Rangely, makes a not unworthy contribution to this most deserving institution from our town. Although the committee was not able to go through the various wards and departments of the Hospital, the ladies saw enough to interest them deeply and to enlist their strongest sympathies, and they suggest that any of our towns people who can visit the institution on one of the regular visiting days should do so. They will certainly be well repaid for the journey.

The Secrets of Success.

Unquestionably one of the most remarkable successes of any modern enterprise is that of Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., proprietors of the celebrated Safe Kidney and Liver Cure and other remedies. Their business is enormous, and is due generally to two causes: First, the unique and powerful newspaper advertising they are doing; and secondly, to the real value of their medicines. The former fact proves the importance of the newspaper columns in the success of any business, and the latter shows the eagerness of the public to secure those articles, be they medicines or otherwise, that possess real merit.

Always buy the best fertilizers, because they are the cheapest. In the report of the Massachusetts State Inspector of Fertilizers, just issued, the Stockbridge Manure, out of twenty or more kinds, has the highest money valuation per ton of any manufactured fertilizer sold in the State for field crops.

Mr. Veranus Snell, of Brockton, Mass., says:

"I have used Stockbridge Manures for the past six years, on various crops, and have always found them a profitable investment. I have several acres on which I have applied the Grass Top-Dressing every year in the spring, for six successive years, with no application of stable manure at all; and there are no indications of any 'running out.' I know it is much cheaper than stable manure; and I wish to say also that I have cut heavier grass, on the same land, after an application of Stockbridge, than I ever did when dressing with dung, and a very general application of the latter at that."

On Thirty Days' Trial.

We will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltic and other Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days, and if you are not satisfied with them, return them with no trouble, and get your money back, with service fees, postage, and expenses, paid. We guarantee speed relief and complete restoration of vigor, strength, and health, in all cases of paralysis, Liver and Kidney diseases, Rheumatism, and many other diseases. It's a pamphlet sent free. Adr's, Voltac Belt Co., Marshall, Mich. 4452.

So "W." in the Woburn JOURNAL of March 31, complains and thistles bitterly for—well for game. He wants somebody to hunt and chase the rumseller's foxes to—to, the worst place that can be thought of. Now, I think he is just the man to do it. Come right out, neighbor "W.," and tell the town officers who are selling rum. Bring forward your evidence, and I have no doubt but you can convict a large number of wicked persons of violating the "no" license law. You are just the right person in the right place, so go ahead and complain all you know, and I have no doubt but you will succeed.

"Tis easy, sir, to tell the way,

Where good men ought to walk,

But when we try to walk therein,

We find it more than talk.

WATER REGISTRAR.

Since it has come to pass that the control of the Democratic party in this town has fallen to the lot of a few ambitious and unscrupulous politicians, whether by fair means or foul, and that high-minded and honorable members have no longer any voice in its affairs or influence in its councils, no measures of theirs adopted in the conduct of town matters excites surprise on the part of anybody. Under its present pernicious leadership the old locofoco watchword of "to the victor belong the spoils" is and is to be the ruling principle with the Democratic "powers that be," and if there is a Republican holding a Town office that can be reached by any of the Boards he should lose no time in winding up his official business and preparing his neck for the guillotine.

The present control of the Democratic party is made up of the less conscientious portion and most effectually bars out a large, personally respectable, and politically honest element in whose hands the interests of the town would not suffer, if they were allowed to direct public affairs. The intelligent portion of the party, the politically clean, and personally honorable, are given to understand, in the most offensive manner, too, that all that is wanted of them is their votes on election day, and that in "running the machine" their room is a good deal better than their company.

In the light of these facts the people were prepared to witness the decapitation of Mr. E. Everett Thompson, Water Registrar, whose official head dropped into the basket last Tuesday evening. It was not to be expected that the prime mover in this matter, who stands more than an even chance of wrecking the Democratic party of Woburn inside of a not very distant future period, would permit so popular and efficient an officer as Mr. Thompson to remain in a position of such responsibility; so when the news of his removal reached the street the surprise was felt in any quarter, though the expressions of indignation were frequent and emphatic—in some cases very emphatic. This feeling was not confined to Republicans. On the other hand, a large number of high-minded and honorable Democrats condemned the act of the Board in terms anything but flattering to the wisdom and integrity of that illustrious group of sharp politicians.

Mr. Thompson was the first Registrar elected on the completion of our system of Water Works, and has served in that office faithfully, honestly and acceptably to the public ever since—ten years. His experience, good judgment, and fairness of deal between the sellers and purchasers of water fit him better than any other man for the position—a fact which is denied by no one; and yet simply because he is a Republican his head must come off, and come off it has.

As before remarked, this action of the Commissioners is disapproved by a large majority of our people. One of the most faithful and intelligent officers the town has ever had is slaughtered to make room for a partisan. No rational excuse can be given for a step that no former Democratic administration has dreamed of taking, and if it does not prove a boomerang then the JOURNAL isn't a prophet nor the son of a prophet.

RESIGNED.

On Wednesday afternoon, Leonard Thompson, Esq., who was re-elected at the late Town Meeting, sent his resignation to the Board from the office of Town Treasurer. He has made a faithful and obliging officer, taken excellent care of the public funds, and his sudden leave taking of the office he has filled so well will cause general regret.

Mr. Thompson's reasons for this unexpected step are not generally understood, but we think it would not be difficult to give a pretty accurate guess as to the motives which led him to throw up his commission. But concerning this, later.

The Town loses a good officer in Mr. Thompson.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

The Republican party of this town won a signal triumph at the polls last Monday night. They elected their candidate for member of the School Board by a handsome majority, and two of their three nominees for the Sinking Fund commission. This was done admirably, and it was not to be wondered at that smiling Republican faces were largely in the majority on Tuesday morning.

The Advertiser, the intensely partisan organ of the Woburn Democracy, will doubtless try to get around the above statement and plausibly account for the defeat of its party; but it will be a bootless task, and he had best let it alone.

WHO DID IT?

The Boston Traveller has been a firm friend to H. S. Z. Bowman, and ably advocated his election from the start.

The editor of the Traveller has just been appointed Collector of Customs at the Port of Boston. This too in opposition to the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, except Mr. Bowman.

And yet some of our very astute politicians pretend to say that Mr. Bowman has no influence at Washington.

It is observed however that he manages to carry through every measure he undertakes, whether in the House, or the Executive, or in the Departments.

IN RUNNING ORDER.

Woburn has finally got herself into good sailing trim for another year. The new board of Selectmen has organized itself into the proper committees; the different commissions and committees have taken their chairs; the appropriations have been made; the people have told the authorities what they want done with the money, and so far as the JOURNAL is able to discover everything is perfectly lovely.

SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS.

The town made a capital choice of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, namely, Mr. James Skinner, Mr. E. D. Hayden and Dr. John M. Harlow. They are gentlemen of wealth, business knowledge and habits, and will look carefully after the interests of the people.

WINCHESTER.

Members of the Congregational Church have organized a Young People's Society.

Mr. Hovey, if sufficiently encouraged, will put telephones into private houses in this village.

Rev. John H. Haywood, late of Louisville, Ky., will preach at the Unitarian church next Sunday.

The melodious croak of the frog has been heard hereabouts: at least, so testifies a veracious witness.

Until further notice the Post Office will close at 8 o'clock in the evening; Saturday evenings at 9 o'clock.

Mt. Vernon makes some excellent suggestions in the Star respecting the contemplated High Schoolhouse.

Mr. Edwin Robinson has gone to Carney Hospital for treatment of his eyes, which are in rather bad condition.

A flattering offer has been made Mrs. Dr. Church to revisit Paris. Her friends interpose strong objections to the move.

The police made a raid on William Phelps's place the other day for contraband rum, and found a small quantity of the ardent. William has his trial next Saturday before Judge Littlefield.

Judge Littlefield imposed a small fine and moderate costs on Barney Carney the other day for looking on the wine when it was red, or perhaps indulging too freely in his favorite beverage called "tangle-leg" by some, "forty-rod" by others, and by a select few "dead-open-and-shut." Barney paid up like a man.

The Mercury says Miss Mason of this village has been engaged as leading soprano in the Lawrence street church, Medford. And further remarks with its usual regard for truth and veracity, that Miss Mason has a highly cultivated and sweet voice. She has: and nobody can appreciate these accomplishments more fully than the youthful, but rather good looking, editor of the Mercury.

Though somewhat tardy Nature is getting on her spring garments, reminding all of us that summer will soon be here. I have heard of no one planting corn yet, but the birds are among us and their morning songs are very sweet and cheery; and the laws begin to show a verdant hue; and by and by the leaves will put forth, and the fragrant odors of Mystic will pervade the air, and everything will be as lovely as lovely can be.

Easter Sunday was generally observed by our churches in the way of sermons, addresses and music. The Congregational Sunday school had an Easter concert in the evening, which was very interesting and pleasant. Appropriate services were held at the Unitarian church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers, plants, vines, etc. Rev. George F. Piper of Boston, preached. The Easter S. S. concert in the afternoon was under the direction of D. Winsor. The exercises were very pleasing and instructive.

TOWN MEETING.—The adjourned meeting to complete the business of the annual meeting was held on the 10th and well attended.

Art. 7. Voted, That the ass. received from the State for Corp. and Nat. Bank taxes; also $5,000 from the Water Rates; and $6,000 from ass't on polls and estates be applied to the payment of interest for the current year.

Art. 10. Voted to add from the ass't on polls and estates $1,100 to use of Fire Department in addition to amount already appropriated.

The By-Laws reported at last meeting, accepted.

Art. 29. Referred to Selectmen.

Art. 30. Dismissed.

Art. 31. Referred to Selectmen.

Art. 32. Voted to lay out Prospect St.

Art. 34. List of Jurors accepted.

Field Drivers—William Ladd Dodge, Walter S. Symmes, C. Webster Ames, Walter S. Purinton.

Peace Viewers—Josiah Hovey, Luther Richardson, John F. Tomblay.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, Our late fellow-townsmen, Asa Fletcher, was a reliable and faithful officer of the Town in the position he was called to fill; and was likewise a patriotic citizen of the country in the hour of her direst necessity, shown by his volunteering to enter her service in the most critical period of her conflict, and thereby received a nearly fatal wound by a shot through the lungs in the heat of battle, so that when he returned he said it would probably shorten his life ten years, and the result has proved that it did shorten it much more than that; and

Whereas, By his diligence, prudence and economy, he amassed a competence, and before his death willed nearly all of it to the Town, after making suitable provision for his wife till her decease, after which the town will come into possession of his property, amounting to probably $10,000, which will inure to the benefit of the Town for years to come; now, therefore,

Resolved, That we hereby express our grateful acknowledgement of his services to this Town and to his country, and for the generous bequest to this, the town of his adoption; in token of which it is hereby ordered that the above be entered on the records of the town, and a copy of the same presented to the widow.

Dr. F. Winsor is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Town Library, A. C. Vinton, Secretary and Prudential Committee.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 105 Main Street; R. Robie, 106 Main Street; E. F. Cutters, Cummingsville; J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn; Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

DON'T REPRESENT.

Our esteemed Medford neighbor says Mr. Bowman is the only stalwart Congressman from Massachusetts, and adds that he does not properly represent the Republicans of the Fifth District. He represents them so well that he can be re-elected if he wants to.

IN FOR IT.

They do say that Gov. Long has served notice on Congressman Harris to vacate the premises. The Governor proposes to represent the Second District in the next Congress, if the stories told about him are true.

THE CHINESE BILL.

The new bill to prohibit Chinese immigration with a ten-year limitation passed the House the other day by a rousing majority. Now we will wait and see what the President does with it.

DISTRICT COURT.

The Judiciary Committee of the General Court have reported the Woburn District Court Bill, fixing the salary of the Judge at $1200; Clerk, $600.

Woburn voted for license, at the recent town meeting, by nearly 900 majority. Last year she voted prohibition by about 125 majority. We are slow to say it, but we fear this astounding change in public sentiment must be attributed to the lax moral discipline administered to the people of Woburn by the local newspapers. The next thing we shall hear from that wicked town will be that an indignation meeting has been held because the Republican Legislature did not grab all the new congressional districts.—Medford Mercury.

The Mercury is mortally afraid the Republicans will take what honestly belongs to them in the matter of new Congressional Districts. It is alarmed lest a fair and just apportionment will deprive its party of a Representative and give them all to the Republicans, in which case the Mercury proposes to "make Rome howl."

Some people regarded our comments on the removal of Mr. E. A. Thompson from the office of Water Registrar as a reflection on Mr. Dow, his successor. They contained nothing of the kind, and nothing of the kind was intended. Mr. Dow is a worthy gentleman, and if a change was to be made, we had as soon seen him have Mr. Thompson's place as any one else. In fact Mr. Dow himself did not approve of the change, but expressed himself quite decidedly against it. In State and National affairs he is a Democrat; in town affairs he would be glad to see politics eschewed; and the JOURNAL has said nothing to which he or his friends can reasonably take exceptions.

It begins to look as though the Stoneham Independent was remiss in duty, or regardless of its privileges, towards that noble scheme of the "Middlesex Felis." We haven't heard a cherrup over it by that esteemed paper for a good many months.

The very latest move on the Congressional board in this District is to bring out a well known citizen by the name of Wright to contest for the prize with Mr. Bowman.

A Bit of History.

Volume II of Sibley's "Harvard Graduates" (now in Woburn Library) contains notices of two former citizens, viz: Samuel Carter, eldest son of Thomas Carter, the first minister of Woburn; and Jabez Fox, the second minister of Woburn (1679-1703) whose "dwelling-house," built by the town, stood where the Library now is. Rev. Thomas Carter's house was near by, on the site of the residence of the late Sylvanus Wood. Samuel Carter, named above, was a school-teacher and town-officer in Woburn, and afterwards minister at Lancaster. Deeds in his handwriting are extant in Woburn collections.

Going to the "Dress Rehearsal" next Wednesday evening?

Do you mind what Town Clerk Seeley says about dogs in another column?

The "Dress Rehearsal" is given under the auspices of the Y. P. U. W."

When the Town Offices are all filled we shall change the list on the first page of the JOURNAL. And not before.

Miss Maxwell was thrown from her horse on Bennett near Pleasant street Wednesday afternoon. She escaped without injury.

Attention is called to the broadside—"No Opening"—of Mr. A. Cummings in this paper. There is a great deal of good sensible talk in it.

Mr. Caleb S. Moulton, of Lynn, formerly of Woburn, has been in town this week looking after the book-binding interests of Courts & Breare.

Mrs. J. H. Parker gives her grand millinery opening on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. She returned from New York a few days ago where a large and very choice stock of spring millinery goods was purchased, all in the very latest Paris, London and New York styles, which will be displayed at her opening. Please read her card in this paper.

PIANO-FORTE AND HARMONY INSTRUCTION.

MISS MERTENA L. BANCROFT,

Residence, Franklin St., Woburn. 36-39

"Stock Sales" by Mr. F. Bancroft, 25 Congress Square, is crowded out.

Thanks to Miss T. for late western papers.

To Mrs. Phinney belongs the honor of introducing "Dress Rehearsal" to Woburn.

Barring a little too much east wind, we have had a very neat, nice and comfortable week of it so far as weather is concerned.

Last Thursday week, George Harrington, 21 years old, badly fractured his right leg and was taken to the Mass. Gen. Hospital.

If people would find out just how cheap they can buy the best photographs made in Middlesex County they should read the card of Mr. H. E. Strout in this paper.

Cannon and bells fired and rang in Lexington on Wednesday morning were heard by early Woburn risers, like the writer. They sounded musical and patriotic.

The Unitarians have built a nice, commodious stage in the vestry of their church to accommodate their own society dramatic, musical and literary entertainments. Good thing to have—a stage is.

Those people who would like to look at a very rich stock of solid silver and silver plated ware with a view of purchasing, should call at Dodge's popular jewelry establishment on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. West return their sincere thanks to the many friends who so kindly remembered them on the occasion of their Silver Wedding last Wednesday evening.

"Sophonisba Spivins" is still troubled with a fondness for dime novels with no hope of curing her before Wednesday night—impossible to keep her quiet at the rehearsals.

One of the best and most convenient residences in this village, pleasantly located, and handy to the Common, can be rented cheap by calling on Mr. J. W. Hammond at his clothing store.

It is said that the selection of a Town Treasurer to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Leonard Thompson, will be left to the people in open Town Meeting to be held on some day in the future not yet determined on.

On Tuesday last Inspector Hanscom of Boston, accompanied by officers Simonds and Welch of the Woburn Police, armed with a search warrant, proceeded to the residence of George H. Dickson and found a very large quantity of hardware stolen from W. H. Wilkinson of Boston, in whose employ Dickson had been for some time up to last Friday when he was discharged. The goods were taken to Boston on the noon train, and Dickson was found at his place of business on Water street where he was arrested and locked up. He appeared in court on Wednesday morning.

Fires.—On Tuesday afternoon the Department were summoned to put out a fire started on the roof of Mr. Harris Munroe's carriage shop on North Warren street, and promptly responded. Those who had a streak playing on the flames in four minutes and thirty seconds from the top of the alarm bell. There was nothing lazy about that. The shop was occupied by Duncan & McDonald, lessees. The damage was trifling, covered by insurance. It was the second time the building has been slightly burned within a month. At 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening an alarm was sounded from box 23 to hasten to the rescue of C. A. Wyman's barn off Main street, which was burned down. At 2:30 on Wednesday morning the force was called out to extinguish fire in Walter Wyman's barn on Wyman street, which was consumed by the "devouring element." It looks as though there might be trouble.

The Board of Selectmen met in regular session on Tuesday evening, and transacted considerable business. Bernard Fletcher was appointed special policeman for the Cemetery without pay; Patrick Hayes—the Dr. Bartlett was re-appointed

Town Physician by the Board of Selectmen on Tuesday evening. His competitor didn't make as much of a fight as was anticipated.

At a meeting of the Sinking Fund Commissioners last Monday evening, James Skinner was chosen Chairman of the Board, and Thomas H. Hill, Clerk of the Board of Selectmen, Secretary. The meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening.

The marriage reception of his daughter, Abby W. Smith, and Nathaniel W. Watson, will be given at the residence of Jonathan Tild, Ward street, North Woburn, at half past seven o'clock, on Thursday evening, April 27, for which elegant engraved reception cards have been issued to friends.

Mr. John Reagan, who resigned the other day, had held the position of Superintendent of Highway laborers twenty-seven years in succession. He had been a good and faithful public servant all those years, and ought to have a pension.

Very early Sunday morning an alarm of fire was sounded from box 46, which was occasioned by the burning of a rope-walk at Montvale, owned by Daniel Marlow & Son, which did damage to the extent of $600. The fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary.

"Dress Rehearsal" is a musical burlesque, not a solemn representation, but a very amusing one of "Cinderella," "Cinderella" will be presented in a charming manner next Wednesday night, by "Amy Fibs" one of the girls at "Miss Jones's" seminary; the "spitful sisters" have their so well, it is not expected they will get over their spite for some time after the "Dress Rehearsal."

Wednesday last was the 107th anniversary of the battle of Lexington and Concord Bridge, in honor of which flags waved from the Liberty-pole, the Armory and other buildings in town as was mete and proper seeing that Woburn sent men over to Lexington to help whip the Red coats. Two at least of the men of Woburn were killed at West Cambridge in the fight and were interred here at home.

Information respecting the Annual May Party to be given in Lyceum Hall may be obtained by consulting a card in this paper. It is quite safe to say that it will eclipse in brilliancy each and all of its predecessors. We take the liberty to add that Pinafore will be represented to life, including "her sisters, her cousins and her aunts."

The entertainment given by Post 33 in G. A. R. Hall on Wednesday evening was well attended considering the powerful rain that prevailed, and was a pleasant affair. Mrs. Dr. Bartlett sang several pieces in excellent style; Mrs. Dr. Bartlett read in her usual happy way; there was some "tripping of the light fantastic," etc. to music on the piano; cake and coffee prevailed abundantly; and at a seasonal hour the pleasant party broke up.

The Northern Lights on Monday night from 8 o'clock to 12 were remarkably brilliant and beautiful. During the display it was as light as on a full moon. One paper describes it thus: "The arch extended from 20 degrees east to 15 degrees west of the magnetic meridian, and had an altitude at the central point of 75 degrees to 80 degrees, the 'merry dancers' at intervals shooting up to beyond the zenith. The colors of the light were white below, with a bluish tint, and different shades of pink and crimson above. At 11:45 the arch broke, and seemed to raise like a canopy, while waves of light flashed over the heavens. Soon the light was focused in the zenith, and darted perpendicularly to the horizon in slender, luminous beams, showing all the prismatic colors, forming a corona, or complete aurora, of such rare beauty as has seldom been witnessed."

Mr. Thomas H. Hill has been appointed Superintendent of the District composed Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, North Reading, Burlington, Wilmington and Bedford of the Suburban Telephone Company, with headquarters here. The company propose to develop the entire District during the present spring and summer, and have already extended their line to Stoneham. Full service of the circuit will be furnished for $4 per month, and combinations of private houses on the circuit at $3 each. Public stations in this town will be established at North Woburn, Cummingsville and Montvale besides the Centre. The great merit of the work is wonderfully lifelike; each feature is true to the original; and any section of the countenance, taken alone, would be instantly recognized as belonging to Mr. Champney. The forehead, eyes, mouth, hair and other features are all his to life, and just as we all remember them on the morning before his death. The great merit of the work as a likeness or portrait is realized at a glance, which is the best test of the value of such a painting. A Boston paper remarks that "the picture is beautifully finished," and so it is. Mr. H. Lewis's hands to whom applications should be made, and who will give all information desired. Under his agency we shall soon be in full telephonic communication with all of our suburban neighbors, which will be a good thing.

WINCHESTER.

Conveying pupils to the schools at public charge is found to be somewhat expensive.

Mr. C. E. Corey has moved into his new house on Mt. Vernon street.

Brush fires have kept the Fire Department pretty busy lately.

The vestry of the Congregational church was the scene of a merry time on Monday evening.

A couple of buggies collided on Bacon street last Monday, and, figuratively speaking, had to be gathered up in baskets. The occupants were uninjured.

At the New England M. E. Conference this week no appointment was made for the Church of Winchester, but the same "is to be supplied."

As in Woburn, the lecture of Fr. Gaegan, the Independent Catholic, in Lyceum Hall, on Tuesday evening, was seriously disturbed by parties outside the hall.

Next Thursday there is to be a high-toned wedding town. The contracting parties are members of the first social circles, favorites, and the affair is expected to be very brilliant indeed.

Between the reporters of the JOURNAL and Advertiser, and the Star newspaper, it is pretty difficult to find out just what the intentions of the Unitarian society are respecting calling a pastor.

On this, Friday, evening will be held the re-union of the Winchester High School Association, for which great preparations have been made. It is to be a fat feast of literary and musical things.

The first of a course of four lectures, under the auspices of the Reform Club, was given on Thursday evening; the second will be given on April 27; third on May 4; fourth on May 11. They are all by able lecturers on popular themes.

The final meeting of the Good Will Club was held last Tuesday evening. It was an occasion of marked enjoyment. Dr. Winsor made a brief address, besides which there was prime music and a drama. In the course of next month a dramatic entertainment is to be given by the club.

Of course nobody has any certain knowledge concerning the matter, but if what I hear whispered here and there be true Judge George S. Littlefield stands more than an even chance of being appointed Judge of the District Court when it is established. I think he does not say very much about it himself except to intimate friends, but he looks to me as though he expected to get the place. The Governor might go farther and fare a good deal worse.

The Star sustains your Winchester correspondent in relation to Rev. J. C. Staples coming here on invitation of the Unitarian Society. I supposed my information was trustworthy, and now the Star says: "Mr. Staples is to preach here as a candidate for the Unitarian Society in June next, and will, undoubtedly, receive a unanimous call to become the pastor of the church, and the society do not intend to invite any one to become their pastor until after Mr. Staples has preached as a candidate."

Perhaps some of the Winchester readers of the JOURNAL—some of its high-toned readers I mean—may be interested in the following which I cabbage from the Boston Journal: "In the programme of the Myopia spring meeting the steeplechases which are to take place at Mystic Park on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 23 and 24, promise to be more than usually interesting, as already quite a number of foreign horses have been put in training for the purpose of carrying off some of Boston's racing capital, and there are quite a number of native horses that will try as hard to retain it. The famous Montreal steeplechaser, Nellie, has been purchased from Mr. Harper by a Boston gentleman. Mr. Harper has another good one in Barrister that will probably carry his colors at Mystic. Messrs. Strathey and Gordon of the same city will come down with a string of good ones, including Rose, the winner of the Montreal hunt cap, and it is not improbable that Mr. Alloway will show us the veteran Jack Frost can jump and gallop with the younger ones. The Rockaway Hunt club of New York is to enter three or four of its 'crack'."

BURLINGTON.

A sociable is to be given in the Town Hall on this, Friday evening by the Ladies' Sewing Society. A good supper will follow a brief literary entertainment. Admission and supper 25 cents: admission minus supper, 10 cents. Doors will open at 7 o'clock.

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the staff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious Kidney, Urinary or Liver diseases, as they only relieve for a time and make you ten times worse afterwards, and only sold on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns.

I am now ready to lay down my bundle. So said a laboring man, who, for long years had toiled to support his family, and had become reduced to health. He now says that Hops and Malt Bitters has made him a new man. 4-11-44.

The President

Of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, says: "Iowa Bitters saved my life. For two years I suffered from Cataract and Liver Complaint; I lost forty-five pounds and was growing worse rapidly. I had lost all faith in medicine, but hearing your Bitters so well recommended, I gave them trial. Six bottles cured me.—Smith P. Hunt, Waverly, Iowa."

We made Jupiter, as I told you, at 7 p. m. on Sunday.

The run was 256 miles, and such a lovely day was Sunday! A dead, dead calm!

Gulf-wind floating around us in great drifts; flying fish and porpoises sporting around for our benefit; a glorious sunset; the "Knickerbocker" from Havana on her way home passing on our horizon; everybody out of their staterooms and enjoying the balmy air.

We have a Mexican musician on board who plays on the piano in the social hall frequently; and about two dozen hyacinths, all in bloom, beautifully arranged in a golden basket, displayed on the table, affording us all the fragrance of a hot-house. The bulbs are in earth, and we think they will last till we reach Vera Cruz.

At 12 m. on Saturday we had made 285 miles in the last 24 hours. To-day we left Hatteras, the light flashing on the horizon about 13 miles away. It was very smooth then, and Hatteras did not seem the bugbear it is often pictured. After leaving Hatteras we crossed the Gulf Stream directly out into the ocean; passed more vessels. One brig signalled to us asking for the longitude. We answered 76 deg. 50 min. * * *

Friday was gray, cold and blowy. Up to 12 o'clock we made 249 miles, and at 7 p. m. passed Hatteras, the light flashing on the horizon about 13 miles away. The Democracy of Maine, through their Central Committee, have pronounced against an extra session of the Legislature to redistrict the State. Capt. We are strongly disposed to regard that person as the best physician who does most to alleviate human suffering. Judged from this standard, Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., is entitled to the front rank, for her Vegetable Compound is daily working wonderful cures in female diseases. Send for circular to the above address.

At about 6 a. m. Monday, we pass Cary Light, near enough to have seen any one if they had chosen to appear. For about three hours we steam along, the beach in full sight, the water a lovely light green near the shore, where it is over a coral bottom, and pretty little breaks in the land, occasionally showing a small island, its yellow sands capped with palm trees.

Having passed Alligator, steaming across the Gulf toward Havana, the Captain asleep, I commence this letter.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

THE NEW LIQUOR BILL.

If the amendments to the temperature law now before the Legislature should be passed this week and signed by the Governor our Licensing Board will be restricted to the granting of eleven or twelve permits instead of answering the prayers of the thirty, or so, who want the privilege of selling rum in Woburn this year. One amendment limits the number of licenses to one in a thousand inhabitants, which would give us eleven, or perhaps twelve. Another amendment prohibits the occupation of a building in which intoxicating drinks are sold, or any part of it, as a dwelling, which, if enacted into law, will seriously interfere with the calculations of some who propose to make a living out of the traffic.

As licenses are granted in a large proportion of the cities and towns in the Commonwealth on the first of May the Legislature is hurrying up these important amendments, and if not already passed, they probably will be this week.

In an elaborate notice and criticism published in the Boston Journal last Saturday of the exhibitions of the National Academy of Design, and Society of American Artists in New York, recently given, we find the following very complimentary mention of the contributions of Mr. William Willard, the Boston artist who has just finished the splendid portrait of Mr. George M. Champney for the Woburn Public Library. Writing of "heads" hung in the gallery the critic says: "noticeable among them being the two portraits—a boy and a young woman—by William Willard. These faces have a warmth and richness of color and an expression of life which are unequalled by any other of the portraits—and we confess we should be puzzled to name the works that mate them in these respects." And much more equally flattering to the artist.

The Boston Journal of Commerce has donned a handsome new suit, and taken on the quarto style, in which it makes a very nice and attractive appearance. It deserves to be dressed in the best there is going.

Some Things of the Past.

A great pleasure in life is the contemplation of the things that are past. The collection of old manuscript papers covering a large portion of the town's existence, and preserved in our public library, contain such priceless treasures of local history as the original rolls of the three military companies of Woburn at the beginning of the Revolutionary War, April 19, 1775, and hundreds of revolutionary receipts, and war papers, even more ancient; and that rich mine of information the Thompson Diary, of the last, and of a portion of the present century. We have space for a few extracts from the collection at large. How natural the expression of the news of a country place, from a letter of Nathan Richardson's describing persons who are known to have existed here, is given in the following:—

"Woburn, Feb. 18, 1765. I thought proper to write to inform you of the following things that have happened. Our neighbor Benjamin Richardson has buried his son Isaac, and Joel now lieut. sick, and James Atwood has been sick six weeks; and the widow Daniel, so called, is to be buried this day; and Lieut. Kendall died the beginning of January last, and Samuel Never and wife both died since you were at Woburn."

The following is Capt. Samuel Belknap's receipt for Benjamin Fowle's "turn" in the military service, 1776:—

"Woburn, Dec. 19, 1776. Received of Benjamin Fowle, by the hand of James Fowle, Esq., forty-one dollars, in full for a turn in the Provincial Service in Capt. Abraham Gold's [Gould?] company, which is ordered to march immediately. Samuel Belknap, Capt."

This Samuel Belknap commanded one of the three military companies, already mentioned as existing in Woburn at the opening of the Revolution. He appears to have been an efficient and patriotic officer, as evidenced by the following copy of a vote from the town records:

"A copy of a vote passed upon adjournment from March the tenth, 1779, to March the twenty-second, 1779, is as follows, viz.: Voted that Capt. Samuel Belknap should draw fifteen pounds out of the town treasury as a premium for his extraordinary trouble in procuring men for the present war in the years past. A true copy: Attest. James Fowle, Jr., Town Clerk."

The Chorus to be given by the English crew on Monday evening will be worthy the attention of all American Sailors.

House-cleaning, that period of the year so dear to good heads of families, has set in and has the appearance of having come to stay.

The twenty lovesick maidens, on Monday evening, should be sufficiently attractive to draw twenty aesthetic young gentlemen.

The trees begin to wear a spring-like appearance—that is, an early spring-like appearance—for their buds have commenced swelling.

The famous Oscar Wilde is expected to be present at the Aesthetic Party, Monday night, and will be happy to be introduced to all lovers of the beautiful.

— Some snow was mixed in with the rain yesterday.

— Thanks to Mr. H. C. Hall for North Adams papers.

— Remember to take out your license for that dog-to-morrow.

— Three of the fire companies have yet to hold their annual elections.

— The Unitarian choir present a fine musical programme for next Sunday.

— Bicycle riders are likely to get into hot water unless they keep off the sidewalks.

— Mr. McCarthy lost two fingers in a machine at Fox's currying shop last Friday.

— A good rain storm set in yesterday which chirped up the spirits of almost everybody, for was getting dry.

— The new District Court question is in a quiet state this week. We understand a new twist has been given the Judgement matter.

— Mr. Rufus Pickering, who has got home from the Mass. Gen. Hospital, is doing well, and will soon be about the streets again.

— Mr. Gardner, the husband of the woman from Lewiston, mentioned in another was found by the Chief on yesterday afternoon.

— Any persons who have not yet seen the famous Josh Whitecomb and his old and esteemed friend, Si Prime, can have that pleasure Monday evening, May 1st, at Lyceum Hall.

— The fine portrait of Mr. Buckman, now hanging in the treasurer's office, should have a prominent wall in the Public Library. Indeed the portraits of many honorable citizens, present and past, should grace the walls of that beautiful institution.

— The Queen of the May, with her maids of honor, will give her annual reception Monday evening, and it is expected she will receive a gracious bow from all the Aesthetic and popular characters of the present day—the reception beginning at half past seven.

— In Rev. Mr. Simonson the Baptist Church feel that they have secured a good and able man for pastor, in which they are doubtless correct. And they feel too as though it is a good thing to get settled down again. Here is hoping that pastor and people will live long and happily together.

— Mr. Eli Cooper flung "the lion and the unicorn are fighting for the crown" to the breeze last Monday, the same being the 63rd birthday of the sovereign he loves and reverences—Victoria. Whether the customary shaver-down was held at his house in the evening we can't say, as reporters were excluded.

— The following were omitted last week: Special Police, No Pay—George Ayer, David Gray, J. H. Nason, Eli Cooper, A. A. Fish, E. P. Richardson, John O'Brien, Thomas McFeeley, P. M. Warland, William Armstrong, Michael Flynn, George H. Rogers, James A. Mosher, Patrick Connolly, Daniel McGonagle, John L. Perham.

— Last Monday evening Post 33, G. A. R. of Woburn went to Peabody to return a visit made them last fall by the Peabody Post. They went over in Jones & Doyle's "Commonwealth," the handsomest barge in this part of the Old Bay State, and in very comfortable one. The boys had a glorious good time, and found the hospitality of the Peabody comrades all that the heart could desire.

— A Mrs. Gardner and four little children arrived here from Lewiston, Maine, last Wednesday, expecting to meet her husband who came to this town some weeks since. The woman failed to find her husband here that day, though it is probable he was at work here in some of the tanneries, but did not expect her so soon. Chief Conn looked after the family, and the last we heard of him he was searching for Gardner.

— Lovers of a good show will bear in mind that the Opera Company that give the entertainment here to-morrow evening is not the "Juvenile" company, but the "Lilliputian"—an entirely different organization. It is made up of "little people," not children, and is said to be a very good one indeed. The entertainments of this company are spoken highly of by the press, and we have no doubt they deserve it.

— The good burghers of Woburn came very near being summoned to mourn the loss of one of their editors last Wednesday and drop a tear or two to his memory. About one o'clock on that day Mr. Mark Allen was run away with by a grocery team and for a few moments he seemed to stand face to face with a bier, so to speak, and to be preparing work for an undertaker. But fortunately Mr. Allen kept a steady nerve and his wits about him, and thus saved to the Democratic party a faithful and efficient servant, and to community an honored and trusted member.

— Elections have been held this week by the Fire Companies with the following result as far as heard from:

Hose 1.—Foreman, Joseph Aldington; Asst. Foreman, T. V. Sullivan; Clerk and Treasurer, Charles A. Wood.

Hose 5.—Foreman, R. W. King; Asst. Foreman, L. A. Sweetser; Clerk and Treasurer, H. L. Andrews; Steward, A. K. Fettridge.

Hose 6.—Foreman, Charles Ames; Asst. Foreman, W. R. Newcomb; Clerk, G. H. Newcomb; Treasurer, C. J. Dean; Steward, Charles E. Scarle.

Hose & Ladder Co., No. 1.—Foreman, F. H. Leath; Asst. Foreman, E. E. Stevens; Clerk and Treasurer, Geo. W. Nichols; Steward, W. A. Smith.

— Last Saturday we appeared our hunger of last week and the first of this ice formed on wayside mud puddles to the thickness of average window glass. One man said water froze in his stable; but then he is an ice dealer, and experience has taught us that the statements of ice dealers, like those of politicians, must be taken with many grains of salt.

— At 6 o'clock p. m., April 20, a carrier pigeon made a hault at the barn of Mr. George Andros in the edge of Burlington, attached to the neck of which was a card bearing the words: "This bird left New York City at 3:10 p. m., April 19." It was secured by Mr. Andros, also a second one which soon followed the first, with no card, both appearing to be very much fatigued and worn.

— Last Saturday we appeared our hunger of a mess of green pease which Mr. O. Rich, understanding the general needs of a country editor, kindly sent round with compliments that day. They were excellent, but just how excellent it is needless for us to try to describe, for almost everybody has, one time or another, feasted on this excellent vegetable. Additional thanks are hereby returned.

— Hon. John Cummings has made the Committee a present of 50 fine maple trees, with which to line the sides of the street leading to the Cemetery. Mr. W. R. Putnam, of the Committee, suggested the idea to Mr. Cummings who readily accepted it, and not only gave the trees but had them dug up and prepared for delivery. Mr. Putnam will see that they are put where they will do the most good.

— The presentation of "The Dress Rehearsal of Cinderella," under the management of Mr. F. H. Lewis, at Lyceum Hall, last Wednesday evening, was by all odds, the best thing furnished for the pleasure of a Woburn audience in long while. A crowded house greeted the performance, which was a new thing under the sun for this burg. From all points of view Mr. Lewis was perfectly satisfied, as were also the people. Each part was admirably rendered, and deserves a more extended notice than space will permit at this time. The costumes, the music, and the acting were all capital, concerning which, should the piece be repeated, the Journal will have more and better things to write. Mrs. Phinney acted as dressing-maid, which is tantamount to saying the attire of the young ladies was faultless. Briefly, the entertainment was a notable success in every particular, for which all concerned in getting it up deserve the thanks of the public.

— Next week the Town Assessors will go on the warpath.

— The Baptist meeting-house is being nicely fixed up for the new minister.

— The Advertiser went to press too early this week to record the last snow storm.

— The Engineers of the Fire Department will organize, elect a Chief, and do other things to-morrow evening.

— The First National Bank of Woburn declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent on the first instant.

— Bicycle riders are likely to get into hot water unless they keep off the sidewalks.

Last week's Star was a very interesting paper—for Stoneham people.

About 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening the fire department were called out by the burning of Niles's barn in Arlington, which was totally destroyed.

A Star correspondent over the non de plume of "Honesty" intimates that the scales of Justice are not always held level, or plumb, by our local Court. It is not an easy thing to please everybody, whether in dealing out justice or writing local items for the Woburn papers. Leastwise, such is my opinion.

A. B. Coffin, Esq., a leading citizen and well known Counselor at Law here, is strongly in favor of George S. Littlefield for Judge of the new District Court. Mr. Coffin, though not a politician in the offensive sense of the word, has a good deal of influence with the men in power on Beacon Hill, and if he should put his shoulder to Mr. Littlefield's wheel that gentleman will probably win the appointment.

I take the following appointments of town officers from the Star and send them to you:

The reunion of the Winchester High School Association was held in Harmony Hall on Friday evening, April 21. At the hour for the beginning of the literary exercises—quarter before eight—nearly every seat in the hall was occupied, over two hundred being present. In the audience were most of the members of the School Committee of the town, several of the clergymen, a number of the teachers and past teachers of the school, and past members and graduates of nearly every class from 1855 to '82. While the audience was coming in, it was entertained with concert selections by the orchestra. The programme for the evening opened with an address of welcome from the president of the Association, Mr. Henry A. Emerson. The speaker alluded to the first reunion, held in June, 1880, and the organization then effected; he then sketched the history of the Association in its meetings in February of the present year. Alluding to the history of the school and the records of its graduates he pointed out that the three High school teachers of Woburn had been graduates of the high school of Winchester. The president's address was followed by a piano duet given by Miss Mary Carter and Miss Dellie Whitney. The next number upon the programme was an address from the Hon. Frederick O. Prince, a member of the first school committee of the town, but the President was compelled to announce that Mr. Prince had not arrived, and at a later stage of the meeting a telegram was read stating that the gentleman was unable to be present owing to the illness of his wife. The Hon. Oliver R. Clark, one of those who secured the incorporation of the town and for seven years a member of the School Committee, made a pleasant speech giving some interesting details of the history of the town and its schools thirty years ago, and expressing a lively interest in its continued prosperity. The solo, "Watching" (Millard) was sung by Miss Addie Mason so acceptably that she was recalled and compelled to sing again. The Secretary then read a letter from Alfred S. Hall, Esq., a member of the school committee, expressing the hope that the association would be permanent and active. "The expectation of some day belonging to such an Association," said the writer, "will be an incentive to our scholars all the way along to it." There were also read letters from Professor Charles L. Harrington of Amherst, late principal of the high school, and from Miss Harriet J. Williams, assistant teacher from 1875 to 1878. Mr. Harrington said "I know there will be nothing but harmony in all the proceedings, and all who attend will feel that much pleasure is derived from such gatherings, and that the school interests of a town are of more and more importance, partly because of the rapidly increasing advantages of education and partly from the geometrical increase of things to be understood, which of necessity have until recently been unnoticed." The solo, "The Two Grenadiers" was sung by Mr. Harry P. Ayer, who was recalled and compelled to sing another song by the appreciative audience. Mr. James I. Hanson, a graduate of the Winchester school and now principal of the Woburn High School, spoke briefly but entertainly of the early days of the school and the early teachers. The last of the literary exercises was a poem by Mr. James Russell, a former High School boy, which told in an amusing manner the sins of the bad boys and girls, who stole their compositions from Macaulay and plagued their teacher, in the days when the writer was one as them. Before the supper was passed, a few moments were

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Main Street, R. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

STARTED OUT RIGHT.

There is law enough on the statute books, if it were only honestly and vigorously executed, to shut up a large portion of the rum-shops in this State, and greatly diminish the trade of the licensed dealers. A good deal of the liquor drunk is illegally sold, even in towns where local option has decided in favor of license, and this branch of the traffic, we believe, official vigilance and courage, backed by a wholesome public sentiment, could pretty nearly put stop to.

Certainly, men holding licenses to sell rum can be forced to keep within the provisions nominated in the bond. We understand all the obstacles and difficulties attending the prosecution of illicit sellers, but only a few comparatively of them are to be encountered in keeping the licensed straight. An important provision is, that the officers of the law can enter the premises where rum is legally sold and see for themselves what is going on therein. The restrictions too are numerous and salutary, and difficult to be avoided. The business is in a great measure open to daylight.

The Board of Selectmen of this town have, we think, started out right, and there can be no doubt but that they are honest and sincere in their determination to hold the persons licensed to a strict account. The Committee have been instructed to prosecute all violations of the law; the Police have received official notice to promptly report all cases of illegality in the traffic; and the licensed sellers have received circular notices of the provisions of their permits, their liabilities, and the proposed action of the authorities in all cases of non-compliance with the conditions of their bonds.

It is safe to say that Chief Conn and his officers are ready and willing to abide by the instructions received and do all in their power to restrict the business of rum-selling to its legal limits. Backed by the Board and the public sentiment we have no fear that the sellers will fail in their duty, or shrink from hauling up offenders against whom evidence can be procured. There is no reason why they should hesitate or hang back in executing the liquor law more than any other, and it is unfair to them to believe such a thing.

On the whole, the prospect for a decently sober year in Woburn is encouraging. The Selectmen have planted themselves on the right ground, and put their foot down. The executive officers will cordially co-operate with them; the community should stop growing and encourage both branches, and less drunkenness will be seen than there has been in the last year.

THE NEW COURT.

The bill establishing the Woburn District Court, for some reason or other not readily understood by outsiders, hangs fire in the General Court. For some time, as near as we able to learn, it has been busy going back and forth from the Committee to the House, and from the House to the Committee, and just where it is at the present writing is more than we know. The last news concerning it was to the effect that it had been sent somewhere to have its provision for a Clerk stricken out or modified, or done something with, and it may now be in the hands of anybody who happens to pick it up.

It is confidently expected, however, that the bill will pass sometime and the Court be established; but when, or in what shape remains to be seen. Legislatures are very uncertain affairs, and ours may give us this Court, and it may not, with the weight of probability considerably on the side of the ayes.

It is reported that arrangements have been made for starting up the Simonds heel-stiffening factory again. Hope so.

A very attractive display of spring hats is to be seen in the show windows at Hammon's Clothing Store.

The First Platoon of the Mechanic Phalanx attended a drill in the Mechanics Fair building, Boston, on Monday evening, and returned on the late train.

If there were any May Parties wandering around in the woods hereabouts last Monday morning they have failed to hand their reports in to the JOURNAL office.

On Tuesday morning there was quite a little blaze at White's shop occasioned by a man at work on a building dropping his load of pipe among some combustibles. The Highland Hose was called out and very soon extinguished the incipient conflagration.

The sudden shutting down of Simonds's heel stiffening factory left the machine shop of J. T. Freeman & Co., without power; but the proprietors soon made connections and the busy place resumed its normal appearance. The depot also was left without heat, and some other inconveniences were endured.

The failure last week of Mr. N. J. Simonds, manufacturer of heel stiffenings, fell heavily on the employees of the establishment. A large number of males and females were suddenly thrown out of employment to whom large sums in wages were due. A few weeks ago an arrangement was made by which the hands were to receive their arrears of pay in installments, but Mr. Simonds was unable to meet his engagements, and finally made a complete failure of it. The business is a profitable one when properly managed, and it is not probable the shops and machinery will long stand idle.

Though very dry and not so hot as dog-days, it is noticed that the buds are swelling, the trees begin to look sort of feathery, and nature is trying pretty hard to smile.

The Assessors are seen all over the lot, which inspires the belief that they are doing the business up with great promptness and neatness.

Lacking power to move the machinery on account of the Simonds shutdown, Ham's mills ceased to work for a brief space of time last week.

The house and lot on the corner of Pleasant and Court streets, occupied by Mr. Julius Ramsdall, has been sold to a gentleman now a resident of Hyde Park. The location is a very pleasant one.

Gymnasium will soon be added to the list of attractions at the armory of the Woburn Phalanx. Five or six good members constitute the committee on the same, and we know they will make everything complete.

Since the appointment of Mr. Thomas H. Harris as District Manager of the Suburban Telephone Co., wires are going up and instruments going in all over the lot. The business is increasing very rapidly hereabouts.

Last Wednesday Mr. William B. Harris of this place purchased the Capt. George Bancroft farm in Reading, of Mr. John Bancroft, for which he paid $3,000. It is an excellent place, and Mr. Harris bought it very cheap, as it was sold to settle an estate.

The adoption and publication of the By-Laws passed by the town at its late general meeting are having a good effect. The sidewalks look better, and are not crowded so much as they used to be. By-Laws are first rate things to have in a family.

It has snowed sometime during every month from last October to the present May, both months inclusive. In view of which nobody will dare call this a tropical climate, except in dog-days.

The Cemetery Committee have planted the maples presented by Hon. John Cummings on the north side of Salem street, and put substantial protection around each. In a few years they will shade and add beauty to a fine avenue.

In this paper Mr. Richards advertises his fine residence on Salem street for sale. It is an elegant place, thoroughly built, centrally and pleasantly located, with all modern conveniences, and a plenty of fine fruit. It will be sold at a great bargain.

On the receipt of an invitation extended by the members of Post 33, G. A. R., to the Woburn Phalanx to take part in a parade on Decoration Day in Woburn, that body unanimously voted to accept the invite, and will therefore do escort duty to the Post.

We did not get the snow promised by "Old Probs" Jr., on Tuesday, but it come very near it. A sudden change in the weather took place in the afternoon, and those who appeared out in the morning in straw hats, linen dusters and low-cut pumps were glad to exchange them for winter robes and things before night. This seems to be one of the springs we read of.

The schools are enjoying the May vacations this week. Very proper little boys and girls don't like May vacations very well—they had rather stay in the schoolroom and learn to be wise and good and nice; but the other kind think a week of just as the flowers begin to show themselves, and the bulb-frogs get up on to the rocks by the side of the pond and croak, and the fish bite, and grub worms are out of mornings for airings, is a good deal better than that which the proper little boys and girls love so well.

On Monday afternoon the Board of Selectmen met in special session at their rooms for the purpose of taking action on the petitions presented for licenses to sell intoxicating drinks in Woburn during the current year. The report of the Committee was received, and the following named persons were granted licenses as prayed for: M. Given 3, P. Kenney 1, J. H. Conn 1-4, Moore & Morris 1, T. Salmon 1-4, T. Sheehan 1, J. Cogan 3, J. C. Higgins 1, P. E. Tenney 1-4, N. T. McDonnell 3, Hugh Rafferty 3, M. Reddy 3, J. T. Sweeney 1, Eli Cooper 3, E. Shea 3, M. Flaherty 3, N. E. Melody 1, Lee Hammond 1st class Inholders; Downey & Foss 5, Doherty 1, J. K. Doherty 3, Joseph Sykes 3, Buss, Trull, Dodge, Hill 4-druggists. Voted.

The Police are instructed to enforce the provisions of the licenses, and to prosecute all violators of the same. Voted to instruct the Clerk of the Board to notify holders of licenses of instructions to Police; to remove all screens from places where liquor is sold; to close such places at midnight; not to sell on Sunday, or to minors. N. Jenkins and J. E. Russell were appointed special police-men without pay.

Next week, commencing on Monday evening, will be given in the great hall of Mechanic Association building, on Huntington Avenue, Boston, a grand Italian Opera Festival, which will be a musical event long to be remembered. The very highest talent in the world has been engaged for this great lyric feast, among the noted characters being Etelka Gerster, the Hungarian prima donna; Minnie Hauk, of Her Majesty's Opera; Clara Louise Kellogg; the great artists Campanini, Brignoli, Charles R. Adams, and many others of almost equal celebrity, the whole forming a combination unsurpassed by any that ever appeared before a Boston audience.

Besides this remarkable array of talent there is to be an orchestra composed of nearly four hundred famous performers led by Behrman and Novellis, to accommodate which the stage of the hall has been greatly enlarged. Mr. George W. Hyatt, the enterprising and liberal manager of this grand opera festival, has lotted on making it "the great crowning event of the musical season," and the remarkable sale of season and single tickets which has taken place, fixes its success beyond a peradventure. Season tickets are put at the low price of $10, and single tickets $1.25, each with reserved seats. We shall be disappointed if a large number of the music-loving people of Woburn do not avail themselves of this opportunity of attending and enjoying this great musical feast next week—the most notable affair ever held in Boston.

The West Side Fire Company, formally disbanded last Sunday night as the clock struck twelve.

Better get your dog licensed before somebody shoots him, or the officers of the law swoop down upon you with an execution for fine and costs.

The acquaintances of Ralph Waldo Emerson here felt very sad over his death last week. The great poet is rapidly passing away, and where are the men to take his place?

The signs are that quite a good many families are moving into town just now. The opinion prevails that the Assessors' census this month will show considerable of an increase of our population over last year.

If you want to raise good grass, or have lawns, go down to the office of John L. Munroe & Co., and buy some of their genuine super-phosphate. It'll fetch the grass everytime.

The ice-dealers do a little cautious skirmishing every day; but the shivering forms and disconsolate looks which greet their invitations to take ice is truly discouraging to to the business.

Rev. Geo. H. Young, pastor of the Unitarian church, preached an excellent sermon on the Poet Emerson and his recent death; and at the Vesper services read literally from the Poet's works.

Mount Horch Lodge of Free Masons was visited on Wednesday evening by delegations of members of the "Mystic Tie" from Lowell, Chelsea, Arlington, Lexington and other neighboring towns. They had a very nice time.

The Liliputian Opera Company failed to put in an appearance here last Saturday evening as advertised. Several people were left in the dark by this miscarriage, among them, our neighbor, the Advertiser. But its editor is rich and can stand several of such little losses.

Every one to whom it is presented signs the petition of Justice Converse for appointment to the Judgeship of the new District Court. Whether he gets it or not, it must be gratifying to him to find out that he has hosts of friends in Woburn. But, then, he'll get it.

The vesper services at the Unitarian church Sunday were attended by a very large assembly of people. The music was delightful, and the contributions by the pastore were excellent, as indeed they always are. Mr. Corey handled the organ admirably, and the vocal numbers were finely rendered by Miss Allen and the congregation.

Our merchants, mechanics, and business men generally, ought to wade right in advertising about these days. Nothing pays a business better than to advertise it well. The columns of the JOURNAL are open to a limited amount of first class, cash-on-the-mail advertising, and there is no better medium to spread such news through than the JOURNAL.

The Boston Journal copies the Woburn Advertiser's item on local political bossism and affixes thereto its seal of approval. It makes us very happy to see the editor of the Advertiser bussed round by "political adventurers," because if he does not enjoy it, all he has got to do is to quit the party and come into our ranks, where bosses are unknown.

Recently the JOURNAL modestly suggested that the Selectmen give to Mr. Dow such spare offices as might be lying around waiting for occupants, and we are flattered to note that they are promptly and cordially acting on the JOURNAL's advice. It is in all other matters of importance, the Board would take the JOURNAL for their guide, counselor and friend; they would greatly profit by so doing. And even if the whole Democratic party of Woburn should consent to do the same they will find it for their advantage.

On the first of May instant, Mr. E. E. Thompson vacated the office of Water Registrar which he had filled for ten years, and Mr. Dow assumed command. For ourselves, we were sorry to see Mr. Thompson compelled to yield to political pressure and step down and out; for he is a good man from any point of view, and a better officer the town never had. But good Lord! what difference does it make what kind of a man or officer he was—when the Democracy get control of the axe Republican heads must go.

The most reliable indications of the advent of spring for good and ill are the Sunday gathering on Rag Rock, which are getting to be numerous and large. Frogs are no more harbingers of that "etherial mildness" of which the poet wrote, and so little of which has been experienced this spring, than the aforesaid gatherings; hence the sight of them is cheering to the poor soul that has been bound in icy shackles ever since last fall and is withered all up by the frosts and snows and boreal gales of a long, hard winter.

Mr. Mark Allen, reporter for the Associated Press, scoped the Herald, Journal and Globe men beautifully on Tuesday evening's news. Your young sprouts have got to get up and dust to compete successfully with the old wheel-horses in the business. The man who first discovered the disconsolate trio in solemn consultation on Mr. Peter Kenney's doorstep early Wednesday morning told a JOURNAL reporter that they looked just as though they would like to crawl into holes and pull the holes in after them.

WINCHESTER.

Not very much successful gardening has yet been done here this spring.

Cornelius O'Connor has bought land of Larke Dutton on Washington street for $3,400.

The death of C. P. Sanborn, an old citizen, from pneumonia this week, is mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Charles Pressey, an old and highly esteemed citizen of this place, was stricken with paralysis last Monday. It is thought by his attending physician that he will ultimately recover.

I have nothing new to report respecting Mr. Littlefield's candidature for the judgeship, but I'll wager a fresh biscuit from the new bakery that he dons the ermine inside of eleven weeks. The presumption in this neck of woods is, that Mr. Littlefield knows just what he is about every day in the week, Sundays not excepted.

The annual May Day festival was given by the children of the Unitarian Society in the vestry of the church on Monday, and a royal good time it was, you may be sure. A little play was given for their amusement; there was dancing around the May-pole, crowning the May-queen for ought I know, and heaps and heaps of "just splendid" cake and things. It was a very pleasant affair for the little ones.

I am informed that the citizens of this place will be treated to a temperance lecture on the evening of the 11th instant. There is need enough of lectures and temperance work here, for, I tell you, rum flows pretty freely, and a good many young men are making rapid progress on the road to ultimate ruin. Our temperance people should put forth renewed and extra efforts to save them.

There is some opposition here to the office of Superintendent of Schools, or rather to having one for our schools. The opponents do not believe necessity demands the extra expense, and with only nine school-houses and twice that number of teachers such would seem to be the case. I believe in employing everything required for the best interests of our schools and not in penuriousness in the expenditure of money if it will do good; but it isn't right to throw money away, and unless it can be pretty clearly shown that a Superintendent is needed, let us wait.

Last Saturday evening a regular meeting of the School Board was held, the school regulations respecting promotions was amended as follows:

"No scholar in the grammar and high schools shall be promoted, unless he shall have maintained a rank of at least 70 in a scale of 100, in as many as all except one of the following studies, viz., in the grammar schools, Ariton, Geography, United States History, Spelling, and Penmanship, and in the course of study. The foregoing provision shall go into immediate effect and relate to the present spring term of 1882 in due view of the promotions at the end of the present year."

All candidates for admission to the high school shall, in addition to the above pass a special examination under the supervision of the School Committee.

The office of a Superintendent of Schools was reported on by the sub-commission, discussed by the Board, and finally passed to some convenient season in the future.

URLINGTON.

Last Tuesday Mr. Harris Monroe of Woburn sold a small farm, so called, in this town, to Mr. Leffey Foster. It contains about eighty acres of land, good buildings, etc., and was sold for $2,700.

The Country Week.

The Special Committee of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union have issued their Seventh Annual Report of the County Week, which has for its object, sending poor children and others from the city during the summer months, for a vacation of ten days or more, to pleasant homes in the country.

Since the inauguration of the work in 1875 there have been sent out 6,669 children and adults, the visits averaging about 12 days each.

The statistics of the work are interesting, showing an increase of 10% in the past season over the first season.

The number sent in 1875 was 160; in 1876, 320; in 1877, 861; in 1878, 1,046; in 1879, 1,316; in 1880, 1,371; and in the year 1881, 1,589.

Visitors were in last year into 155 different towns, residing 18,596 days, and the average expense per week for each visitor was $2.57. A Country Home has been established at Wellesley, Mass., where 161 children, and others, principally invalids, remained last winter, 1,592 days.

The report, which contains many interesting details of the work, will be sent to any one desiring it.

Subscription, now being received for the season of 1882, and should be addressed to Wm. H. Baldwin, President of Boston Young Men's Christian Union, 18 Boylston St., Boston.

A Music Tournament.

At Milan, Italy, there have recently had a Musical Industrial Exhibition and Competition, under royal patronage, at which were collected and compared, during a period of several months, the largest number and greatest variety of musical instruments, old and new, ever brought together. America was honored in the award to the Mason & Hamlin Organs company of the highest medal, and the only one in this department. The Senate has yet to act on the question. From the Joint Special Committee on the Judiciary came seventeen salary bills, affecting some thirty court officials, whose compensation they are designed to increase from $700 to $1000 per annum, respectively.

LITERARY NOTICES.

The May number of GOLDEN DAYS, a magazine published "for Boys and Girls" by James Elverson, Philadelphia, is one of the best of that sterling monthly yet issued. Its contents give a great variety of fresh and interesting matter in the way of serials, finished stories, sketches, tales, poetry, many of which are beautifully illustrated.

GOLDEN DAYS, besides being a capital magazine, is a very handsome book.

TRAD AND COFFEES is a little publication issued by Chase & Sandborn, 87 Broad street, Boston, for free distribution among their tea and coffee drinking customers. It is neatly gotten up, and contains many articles of real value and a good deal of interest to the public.

MRS. MAYBURN'S TWINS, by John Habber-ton, and written by him since he wrote "Helen's Babies," is a book that will go straight to the heart of every mother in the land, for it is a most interesting, wholesome, and instructive picture of certain phases of married life. Natural as life, it sparkles on every page with delicious humor, and its occasional pathos is touching in the extreme, while the style of composition befits a master hand. The action covers a single day, but what a busy day it is, and how crowded with important and realistic household events. The story is in brief the diurnal experience of Mrs. Mayburn, whose husband is loving, but thoughtless, and whose children are real flesh and blood youngsters, at once the joy and torment of their mother's life. No one who likes to read about children, their mothers and the home circle should miss this truly absorbing and fascinating story. It is a gem of the first water in a setting that adds vastly to its attractiveness. We commend it to the thoughtful attention of all. It was published in a large square duodecimo volume, paper cover, uniform with "Helen's Babies," price fifty cents. T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa.

EDISON'S FUNERAL.

The obsequies of Ralph Waldo Emerson at Concord Sunday drew one of the most notable gatherings that have ever been seen in the neighborhood of Boston. A large number of ladies and gentlemen distinguished in literary or professional life, went out from Boston by the trains at 1 P. M. and 2.15 P. M. At 2.30 P. M. a private service was held at the home of the Emerson family, the Rev. Dr. Furness of Philadelphia officiating. The funeral procession then went to the Church of the First Parish, where public services were held, including introductory words by the Hon. E. Rockwood Hoar, Scripture reading by the Rev. Dr. Furness, an address by the Rev. Howard N. Brown of Brooklyn, and a poem by A. Bronson Alcott. The remains were then conveyed to Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, where they were interred with fitting solemnity.

The physicians in attendance upon Judge Lord of the Supreme Court said on Wednesday that the indications were more favorable for his patient's recovery.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners.

The undersigned, citizens of Woburn, in said County, respectfully represent that there is in said County a narrow strip of land, about 100 rods wide, and that portion of said highway which lies between Lexington street and Bedford street, can with great propriety be called a "cut." This cut is a narrow strip of land, bounded on the west by a stone wall, and on the east by a stone wall, and is about 100 rods long, and 10 rods wide, and is situated in the middle of the highway, and is a great obstruction to the passage of vehicles.

On the 22nd day of April, next, at 12.30 P. M., by serving the clerk of said town of Woburn, A. M., by the Governor renominated at the meeting of the Executive Council, Wednesday, Cadwallader Curry, Commissioner of Savings Banks, Rufus R. Wade of Cambridge, Chief of the District Police, and J. White Belcher, Clerk of the Eastern Norfolk District Court; the first two for a term of three years, the last for a term of five years.

The professorship of Anatomy, now held by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, was established in 1782, when the Harvard Medical School was founded. The position was first filled by Dr. John Warren, who was succeeded by his son, Dr. John Collins Warren, and in 1837 Dr. Holmes assumed its duties upon the resignation of Dr. Warren. There is no other institution in the country where, for a century, a professorship has been held by only three men.

It was necessary that one of the daughters of Minister Sargent should sail for Germany with her eyes blindfolded, owing to affection contracted while studying Sanskrit and Anglo-Saxon. A noted occultist of New York was in attendance at the last moment.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Main Street, R. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE NEW CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

The Committee of the Legislature on re-districting the State made their report last Tuesday. It will doubtless be adopted, although the Republicans might with great propriety oppose it on the ground that the District is given to the Democrats. By a little more careful figuring, which a due regard for the interests of the Republican party would seem to have demanded from the Committee, the Democrats might easily have been left out in the cold entirely, and the Republicans had the whole Congressional delegation. But the apportionment will do very well, and is really better than we feared from the Committee.

By this new arrangement the old Fifth (this) District loses twelve towns and gains two, and swaps its three Boston wards for three others and a part of a fourth. The Sixth takes the twelve towns of our old District. This plan makes Mr. Bowditch's re-election a pretty sure thing.

We give the Fifth and Sixth Districts as mapped out by the Committee:

FIFTH DISTRICT.

Boston—	Rep.	Dem.
Ward 8, Pr. I.	3,018	247
Ward 9,	12,322	1,029
Ward 10,	11,568	1,069

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Faneuil Hall Inc. Co.—Sale.

B. & Q. R.R.—Great Burlington Route.

Cemetery Com.—Notice.

J. H. Johnson—Sale of Gas Stock.

Mr. Burman to Retire.

Samuel Cook—Carriages for Sale.

Town of Woburn—Public Hearing.

T. C. Parker—For Sale.

E. E. Thompson—For Sale.

Hand-organs are quite thick around the streets, and some of them considerably musical.

The first haying of the season was done on the Library grounds last Wednesday. The lawn looks elegantly.

The other day the Assessors found a house that contained four families composed of twenty-nine persons.

Selectmen give a public hearing on the Abbott street passageway on Tuesday, May 16, at 8 o'clock, p. m.

North Woburn district contains a population of 1049—an increase of 60 in the last year. This is doing first rate.

A telephone is all well enough for lazy people; but the JOURNAL wants none of it—until he gets money enough to buy one.

Don't fail to read Mr. John C. Buck's clothing announcement in this paper. It really does one good to peruse such articles.

Mr. Charlie Munroe makes a specialty of gent's furnishing goods of which he has a full and fashionable stock. Likewise of hats and clothing.

There was a copious and very refreshing rain on Tuesday morning, which melted the snows of the birds and started grass and things wonderfully.

Last Tuesday Dr. Graves and his lady returned from a two or three weeks visit to New York where they had a good time, and the Doctor's head got well rested.

Mr. Hudson is going to make the corner of Sturges and Canal streets bloom with new houses like the rose. Canal street is surely to be the "Court end" of the town.

The JOURNAL gets its buttonhole noses at White & Waters' now-a-days and is very much pleased with the sweet and beautiful flowers from their well-stocked windows.

An orchestra of five pieces will lead the praise meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms next Sunday. Those who attend will have the privilege of listening to some very fine music.

Mr. F. H. Lewis is set down for a prominent part in the 100th concert of the New England Conservatory of Music to be given on May 17 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in Music Hall, Boston.

Mr. George A. Day, Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank, has been wrestling with a roll of bank notes picked up in the street after having been trodden into pulp by passing teams, and is trying to straighten them into redeemable shape.

The Town will pay $20 to $30 more for taking the school census this year than for former years. It will be no better done either; indeed, if Mr. Patten don't keep his eye tight open he won't get more than half the full number of scholars, any how.

A milder spell of weather has set in and our petition is that it may last. The spring is said to be by old weather observers twenty days beyond the times, that is to say, we suppose, that generally speaking farm work and growing things are twenty days more backward in coming forth than usual.

Perhaps it would do no harm to state that the census of the Assessors will show that our population crowds 12,000 so close that there is no fun in it. At any rate such is the opinion of the Globe reporter, and more than half the time the Globe reporter knows just what he is talking about when discussing our population.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from the body, is of great value.

The skin, too, is greatly improved by Hood's SARSAPARILLA, because the skin is the mirror of the body, and the condition of the skin is a true index of the health of the body.

Hood's SARSAPARILLA is a safe and reliable medicine, and the price is reasonable.

It is now said that Mr. Brown, Mr. Tidd's son-in-law, is to take the Mawhiny tannery here and carry it on. It is a valuable property and competent men can make money in it.

On Wednesday, Hon. Joseph G. Pollard delivered a very interesting religious address in the hall occupied by the Congregationalists for week-day meetings.

Six candidates, fruit of the late religious meetings at the Centre, have applied for admission to the Congregational Church here, and they will be admitted next Sunday. Several others are expected to unite at an early day.

At an adjourned meeting of the Woburn School Board held in their rooms last Tuesday evening, Mr. E. H. Davis was re-elected Superintendent of the Public Schools; Thomas Mulkeen and Elisha J. Mann were elected Trustee Officers. The present order of Standing Committees was discontinued, and business that has in the past fell to their hands will in the future be attended to by special committees, or submitted to the full Board. G. W. Norris, C. T. Lung, M. R. Murphy were appointed a committee on the purchase of fuel. Leonard Thompson, George P. Bartlett were appointed a committee to investigate the drainage of the Lawrence school. Assignments of schools remain the same as last year, only John Cummings, Chairman of the Board, took the place of P. L. Converse, and John G. Flagg Jr., that of Charles Anderson in the assignments.

When dry goods, fancy goods, clothing, millinery, groceries, provisions, etc., etc., can be bought cheaper in Woburn than in Boston, as they can be, for our merchants undersell the Boston retailers, what sense or reason is there in going into the City for these things? It is just a notion, and a very foolish one, that people have got into their heads that induces them to go away from home to make their personal and family purchases.

It is within our certain knowledge that all the goods enumerated above, and others, can be bought cheaper here than in Boston, when they all go in for home industry, enterprise, business, and help each other live. That's the true doctrine, and the plan that will soon make our town one of the most thriving cities in this Commonwealth.

Mr. Amos Cummings advertises to-day great bargains in fine laces and rich buttons. We have no doubt at all but that these goods may be found in as great variety, good quality, and late styles as Mr. Cummings's as in any store in Boston, why then should the ladies pass it by and go into the City for these things? It is just a notion, and a very foolish one, that people have got into their heads that induces them to go away from home to make their personal and family purchases.

The Old Ninth Regiment Association have accepted an invitation from Burbank Post 33, of this town to be their guests on June 21, when a pleasant re-union and a good time will be had. A public reception of the Old Ninth, a feast, and a ball will constitute a part of the programme, to make which a social success no pains will be spared by Post 33. At a meeting at the headquarters of the Ninth, 61 Court street, Boston, last week, the invitation, extended through Mr. Thomas H. Hill, was accepted.

Copeland, Bowser & Co., enjoy a nice trade in dry goods and the wares thereto belonging because they keep a full stock of everything demanded by the public and sell cheap. It is a good honest reliable house where people get just what they bargain for with full weights and measure. Their spring and early summer stock is a capital one, and in casting about for first class goods at hard prices the people cannot do better than drop into the store of Copeland, Bowser & Co.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSES. C. H. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.—Gentlemen, we were great sufferers from Salt-Rheum on my limbs for many years previous to the summer of 1856, at which time I was cured by Hood's SARSAPARILLA.

WINCHESTER.

Fitzgerald, who was kicked by his horse while at play on Sunday, died on Monday.

Charles S. Smith has bought land and buildings on Washington street of Gardner H. Smith for $3,500.

Nature has got her spring robes nearly on, and the faces of farmers and gardeners wear a beaming smile.

The sum of $58 was stolen from the store G. W. Brodeur, on Tuesday. The proprietor was away at the time.

Mr. Thomas Quigley has been given the job of earth work on the South Meadow Dam by the Water Board, and will begin business at once.

Last week Mr. R. C. Metcalf lectured on "Books" for the benefit of the Reform Club. It was an excellent production, and well appreciated.

Mr. Albert Ayer's horse with hayrack attachment indulged in quite a little private circus the other day. He made things lively for a brief period.

The Star says Taylor's barge line is a good thing for Woburn merchants, who ought to subsidize it. There is a good deal of truth in the statement.

The Public Improvement Association of this town, which is composed of live people, will hold a meeting this evening. A society of this kind is a boon to any town that has one.

The Inspector of Public Buildings has been around and in his travels brought the Brown-Stanton Block within range of his observation. The result is Harmony Hall will have a fire-escape.

Mr. Charles B. Wilder, proprietor of the St. James Hotel at Jacksonville, Florida, died at the residence of his son in this town last Sunday. He was nearly 80 years old, and died quite suddenly.

Mr. Thomas P. Patten was thrown from the horse he was riding on Washington street last Tuesday, but received no very serious injuries. Mr. J. F. Boutwell assisted him home after the fall where he was properly attended to.

The Engineers of the Fire Department will "go for" any one who unlawfully meddles with the hose or other property of the Department. Twenty-five dollars will be paid for evidence that will convict such persons, if any there should be.

Last Sunday morning, Mr. John Fitzgerald, who lives at the Sand Bank, was kicked by his horse which he had taken out for air and play, and supposed to be fatally injured. The kick was not delivered viciously, but in play. The accident was a very sad one.

By the new apportionment this town is taken out of the old Fifth District and put into Sixth along with Medford, Malden, Stoneham, Lynn, and especially Mr. Cabot Lodge's town of Nahant. Congressionally considered Winchester (old South Woburn) and Woburn have parted company, if the Committee's bill passes.

The writers in the JOURNAL and Star upon the subject of Superintendent of Schools seems to have a wrong conception of the position of affairs. At the annual town meeting a committee who had been previously appointed submitted a report in favor of the election of a Superintendent Schools, thereupon a vote was passed in structuring the School Committee to appoint such an officer as soon as the suitable person could be found and appropriated $1,000 for the expense of the same. As an inducement for the committee to hasten the matter the town refused to allow them the pauper compensation heretofore granted them for their services. The report to the town meeting was written and advocated by one who was an old and experienced teacher in the Boston schools and now one of the Supervisors. It will thus be seen that the committee have no alternative but to carry out the vote of the town, no matter what their opinions may be in the matter, and those opposed to the election of such an officer must go to the town at some one of its meetings and have order rescinded.—Cor. of Advertiser.

ties through the park, and who immediately gave the alarm to the police. Surgeons soon reached the spot, but the police were already conveying Mr. Burke's body away to the town, where an examination showed life to be extinct. The upper part of the body was performed in a shocking manner, and presented a ghastly sight. Proceeding further, the medical men reach the body of Lord Frederick Cavendish, which was being conveyed away from the park on a stretcher. The body of the Chief Secretary displayed the same dreadful wounds, in addition to which his left arm was broken and torn, as he had put it up to protect his breast. Lord Frederick Cavendish was quite dead. The bodies were taken to Stevens Hospital, where they will remain until an inquest is held. The locality of the outrage is terribly marked with blood. The spot where the body of Lord Frederick Cavendish was found was absolutely, deluged while Mr. Burke's body lay in a pool of blood. It is said that, after the act, the murderers immediately drove off. There seems to be no clue to the assassins at present, but the police are taking most extraordinary measures to discover the perpetrators. A large quantity of notes and gold coins, besides their gold watches, were found in the pockets of the victims, which showed that the object of the crime was not robbery. Great excitement prevails throughout Dublin, and widespread indignation is expressed over the event. The telegraph offices are besieged for the latest news. At the London clubs and other late West End resorts the news of the assassination was received a feeling of stupefaction, followed by the bitterest resentment.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Harton, 105 Main Street, R. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

CONFIRMED.

Last Monday the appointment of Mr. Worthington for Collector of the Port of Boston was confirmed by a vote of 38 to 14, and it was in order for Mr. Beard to pack his satchel and leave. The Massachusetts Senators, assisted by a few Democrats, made something of a fight against Mr. Worthington, but did not succeed in getting many Republican Senators to join them in their opposition.

Thus the stalwart wing of the Republican party in Massachusetts has scored an important victory, and are jubilant over it. The Civil Service Reformers held an indignation meeting in Boston Monday evening, but of course, beyond giving some of them an opportunity to air their eloquence, the meeting amounted to nothing.

Mr. Worthington is a very successful business man, capable, level-headed, honest and clean, and will make a capital Collector. Beard is a sort of a pet of the gentry, and that is about all.

A NEW CANDIDATE.

Lawyer Norris of Woburn is a candidate for the Judgeship of the new District Court. A shrewd old gentleman suggests that Mr. Norris is a great deal less likely to get the office than he is of being struck by lightning some time this summer. And very few persons would feel like disputing with the shrewd old gentleman on that point.

THE BOSTON HERALD, in closing up an ingenious argument in behalf of the Labor Bureau of this State, and in vindication of its Chief, Col. Wright, who is in hot water just now, and whose special defender that able and very reliable journal appears to be, talks in this wise:

The Fall River News, and the Woburn Journal, and the Lawrence Eagle, and the New England Catholic Herald, which speak like the Woburn Journal, for some of our adopted citizens, are still casting reproaches at the report of the labor bureau. We believe it contains the evidences of more honest work than any state document of late published.

We should esteem it a favor if the Herald would print some facts going to show that the Bureau is of any earthly account to anybody in this Commonwealth. Likewise, other facts to show that the Bureau, such as it is, is not proved to be, by Col. Wright's last Report, inefficiently and miserably managed.

A careful survey of the whole field convinces the JOURNAL that only one Woburn man has the judgeship "on the brain," and his case is entirely hopeless. There are other candidates, but none of them are dying for the appointment, or even suffering very greatly. By invitation John Warren Johnson, Esq., met the Governor on Wednesday and had a consultation with him over the matter; on Thursday Benjamin E. Bond, Esq., had an interview with His Excellency. Neither of these gentlemen can be induced to disclose anything concerning those meetings out of which the JOURNAL is able to fish a peg for any particular candidate to hang a hope on.

We have received from Mr. Henry H. Faxon, the champion prohibitionist of America, a pamphlet entitled "Extracts from the Public Statutes, containing laws relating to the observance of the Lord's Day, Gaming, Intoxicating Liquors, Suppression of Common Nuisances, Licenses, Inholders, Common Victuallers, and Municipal Regulation of Police." Published by Henry H. Faxon, etc. Mr. Faxon spends time, money and labor lavishly for the cause of sobriety, morality and good conduct generally; but neither he nor his works are fully appreciated by the public, nor anything like it. His "Extracts" is a very valuable publication.

Some of the papers not friendly to Mr. Bowman persist in saying the new appointment has injured his prospects for re-election. The JOURNAL takes a different view: his chances are better in the new District than they would have been in the old. In the latter he would have had two very hard men to run against in the convention: under the present arrangement where is the prominent man to oppose him, unless Hon. John Cummings should yield to the wishes of his friends and stand for the nomination?

Of course it is not to be thought of for a moment that Gov. Long will give any serious consideration to the application of Lawyer Norris for the judgeship of the new District Court. If it should come to such a strait that he would be obliged to select a rank, bitter Democratic partisan for the position, even in that case the people of the District could furnish him the names of several men who would be preferred to Lawyer Norris.

The officers of the Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute, Boston, have issued a neat pamphlet setting forth the objects of the organization and containing the report of the Treasurer for last year. By the latter we learn that the net proceeds of their great Fair last fall were from $15,000 to $20,000. A Fair will be held this year beginning early in September and continue about two months.

There seems to be a lull in the prosecutions of the star route swindlers. A few weeks ago they began with a great flourish of trumpets, but somehow or other but little is heard concerning them, except unsatisfactory reports of what the officers of the law are going to do.

According to the Register just received the present term of the State Normal School at Salem closes on June 27, and the next term begins on September 5. A new advanced class will be formed in September.

Mrs. S. K. Bolton, of the Congregationalist editorial staff, a lady of rare literary gifts, will have an interesting paper in the June WIDE AWAKE, entitled "The Ruskin May-Day at Whitlands College," with portraits of Mr. Ruskin Miss Osborne.

Marlboro claims to be the banner town in the liquor license business. With a population of about 10,000 it issues 57 licenses and realizes $8,700.

Next Tuesday at 4 o'clock p. m., the North Woburn Congregational meeting-house will be sold at auction.

The Grattan Literary Association will give a first-class dramatic entertainment in St. John's Institute Hall on the evening of May 30. The very best talent will be employed.

Particular attention is directed to the advertisement of white shirts in this paper by Mr. Hammond. He has a very large and desirable stock of these goods, and sells them very low.

The Finance Committee of the Old Ninth Reunion to take place here on June 21, are meeting with good success in gathering funds to defray the expenses of the occasion.

Over twenty dwellings are in process of building here at the present time, some of which are fine ones. It now looks as though the building business would be lively here this season.

There was a heavy frost here and hereabouts last Sunday night. Not a very encouraging prospect for spring lamb and green peace of home manufacture by the 4th of July.

There are three Democratic papers in Woburn and only one Republican at the present time. "And still there's more" (Democratic ones) to follow."

The five members of the Old Ninth Regiment who live in this town are: Patrick Walsh, Co. A; Thomas H. Hill, Co. D; Andrew Reddy, Co. D; Hugh Dorrington, Co. E; Charles Hayes, Co. E.

It has been currently reported that Hon. John Cummings favors the appointment of Lawyer Norris to the new judgeship. An investigation shows that the story was made out of whole cloth—there is no truth in it. Mr. Cummings isn't that kind of a man.

Mrs. Dolly Taylor, Grandmother of Mr. Henry Andrews, was 97 years old on the 13th of this month. She is as smart physically and intellectually as a woman twenty years younger, and bids fair to live to a green old age. Her father was a drummer in the Revolutionary War.

Sunday's Globe contained an elaborate and well written article on the Woburn post-office, past, present and to come. Bro. Smith yields a racy pen. But the Advertiser says the article was a rehash of one published in its columns some three years ago. When doctors disagree, etc.

Mr. R. Pickering, who met with an accident on the 3d of February last by which he lost a foot, was riding on our streets on Tuesday last for the first time since he was taken to the Hospital. He is looking first rate and doing well. People were all very glad to see him out again.

A dissatisfaction is growing in the Woburn Council of the Legion of Honor which threatens to end in its dissolution. Misrepresentations made by the organizer of the Council respecting assessments are beginning to make themselves felt, and it is probable it will cease to exist at an early day.

Sixty-six or sixty-eight persons joined the Congregational Church last Sunday. All but ten of them was by confession of faith. Among those who joined by letter was Mrs. Charles Nute. Her husband also joined, not by letter however, the pastor of the M. E. Church refusing to give him one, but on his well-known Christian character. The exercises were very interesting.

The Simonds heel-stiffening factory has resumed operations with a full complement of hands, and business at that important establishment is booming again. A brother of the former proprietor is at the head of the concern, and is said to be a thoroughly-paced business man with practical ideas about things. He will make it go. It is a good thing for the village that the factory has resumed work, for it gives employment to a large number of men and women, and disburses a good deal of money during the year. And then it is pleasant to see all Woburn industries going ahead.

Dr. March's new book, "Days of the Son of Man," will doubtless meet with a large sale in Woburn. Many copies of his other works—"Night Scenes in the Bible," "Our Father's House," "From Dark to Dawn," "Home Life in the Bible," etc.—will have choice places in the libraries of our citizens, and we should suppose that every member of the Congregational Church and Society, of which he is the respected pastor, would be glad to add this new volume to those already in their possession. Many others too, friends and acquaintances of the Doctor, will no doubt be glad to buy and read this late production from his gifted pen.

Mr. James Horner is the new flagman at the Woburn Highland station.

Mr. James N. Dow has been appointed Treasurer of the Sinking Fund Commission.

A notable wedding is soon to take place not a thousand miles from Pleasant and Court streets.

Very soon the proper authorities will have to begin casting about for a Court House for the Woburn District Court.

We got only the ragged edge of the warm wave promised by the Weather Bureau to be on hand the first of the week.

Mr. Charles A. Smith's family horse ran away last Saturday and was considerably injured. The carriage too was roughly handled.

At a special meeting of the Selectmen last week the bond of Mr. Dow, as Treasurer, was duly approved and ordered to be recorded.

Mr. G. W. Nichols keeps the real, genuine, honest Scotch pebble eye-glasses at his clock and watch store. They are honest goods.

Augustus Onion, a demented inmate of the Almshouse, ran away from that institution Wednesday morning, and was recovered in Reading late at night.

Considerable trouble is experienced in keeping green-pluckers from premises which they ought not to poach upon, and some of them can't be kept away anyhow.

The gentlemen who went to Boston to present the claims of Lawyer Norris to the judgeship to the Governor had no very encouraging story to relate on their return.

It is a real good thing to make a High Schoolhouse of the old Warren Academy. It is a fine large building, beautifully located, possesses a sort of classic atmosphere—well, it is just the thing.

Mrs. M. Ellis will rent the large house, containing 20 rooms, on Winn street, opposite of House No. 1, in any shape renters may wish; that is, she will lease any part or the whole of the house—1 room, or 20—as desired. See card.

The Phalanx had a tolerable tough day's work at the Regimental drill on Wednesday. They were put through from bright blushing morn till dewy eve, and were pretty well fatigued out when they reached their armory late in the day.

Thomas O'Brien, assault and battery, $3 and costs, paid. Philip Smith, drunk, $1 and costs, also assault and battery, $3 and costs, paid. Charles McSheffray and Daniel O'Driscoll, disturbing the peace, $5 and costs, paid. John Dana, disturbing the peace, $5 and costs.

The charges preferred by Capt. Converse against W. S. Flint, Charles E. Clark, James Dockham and Charles Upton, of Co. G. Fifth Regiment Infantry, M. V. M., were sustained by the court martial convened to try the same, and the four members were dis honorably discharged from the Company for non-attendance on drills and meetings.

The same male quartette that furnished such excellent music at the Unitarian church last Sunday will sing there again next Sabbath, after which the committee will come to a conclusion concerning engaging them permanently. Two of the members of the quartette belong here—Mr. Charles Shaw and Mr. Davis; and the other are Boston gentlemen.

The light which our correspondent throws on the condition and progress of the Improvement Association is encouraging. No doubt but that good results of the organization will show themselves this season, for we know of several matters which will be a benefit to the town are now under consideration. It is to be hoped that every person who has the best interests of Woburn at heart will join the Association and aid it its good work.

A special meeting of the Rumford Historical Association will be held at the house of W. R. Cutler at Central Square, on Thursday evening, May 25, at eight o'clock, to listen to an address by the Rev. E. G. Porter of Lexington, on Count Rumford and his connection with places in Europe. As Mr. Porter is perfectly at home on this subject, and is a very pleasant speaker, the occasion promises to be an enjoyable one to those present.

Everybody will want to go to the Congregational vestry to-night to hear the famous McGibney Family of musicians, and all the children to the matinee tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. If we have counted them right there are ten members of the McGibney Family who will participate in the concert, besides several more who won't, and it is said that no company that travels gives better entertainments or draws larger houses than this one. They are from Portland, Oregon, and have been secured for this concert and matinee by the Y. M. C. A. and for the benefit of their organization. This concert alone should and probably will fill the Congregational vestry tonight. The price of admission is only 35 cents, and to the matinee only 15 cents—so the prices will keep nobody away.

The Executive Committee of the Ninth Regiment Association accepted the tender of a reception and dinner made by Thomas H. Hill, Esq., in behalf of the citizens of Woburn, and voted to hold their annual reunion here on June 21 next. The association and invited guests will leave the Boston and Lowell Depot about 10 A. M., and on arriving at Woburn will be escorted by Burbank Post 33, G. A. R., to Grand Army Hall, where the business meeting will be held, after which the comrades will march to St. John's Institute, where the annual dinner will be served. After the dinner there will be short speeches, music and recitations. Lyceum Hall will be open for dancing during the day. Among the invited guests will be Governor Long, Mayor Green, the Collector of the port of Boston, Hon. A. Collis, John Boyle O'Reilly, General Nat Wales, ex-Adjutant General Cunningham, Commander-in-Chief Merrill of the National Encampment, G. A. R. Commander Patch, department commander of Massachusetts, Major Breen of Lawrence, Captain J. G. Adams of Lynn, and others.

B. Frothingham has a sympathetic article on Swedenborg. Not the least important paper is one entitled "Has Land a Value?" by Isaac L. Rice, it being a criticism of one of the fundamental postulates of Henry George's political economy. Finally, Chas. F. Leedecker essays to prove that a "National Militia" is a constitutional impossibility.

LITERARY NOTICES.

PETERSON's for June maintains its reputation for literary and artistic excellence.

Its plain and colored Fashion Plates in a single number are worth more to the ladies than the yearly subscription price.

The June number contains interesting stories, poetry, music, and other valuable matter.

In the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW for June, Senator W. B. Allison has a paper on "The Currency of the Future," in which he indicates the measures that will have to be taken by Congress for insuring a stable currency after the national debt has been extinguished.

"A Memorandum at a Venture," by Walt Whitman, is an explanation of his purpose and point of view in trenching upon topics not usually regarded as amenable to literary treatment. "Andover and Creed Subscription," by Rev. Dr. Leonard Woolsey Bacon, is a philosophical review of the present state of dogmatic belief in the churches. Hon. George F. Seward, late minister to China, in an article entitled "Mongolian Immigration," makes an argument against the proposed anti-Chinese legislation. Dr. John W. Dowling, Dean of the New York Homeopathic Medical College, comes to the defense of the Hahnemannic School of medicine, against a recent attack upon its principles and methods.

WALTER WHITMAN, in his article "The SARSAPARILLA," makes an argument against the proposed anti-Chinese legislation. Dr. John W. WINCHESTER.

The Assessors are into the work clean up to the elbows.

The Foster March place is undergoing great changes in the way of repairs and things.

"Cai Bono" has some sensible remarks in the last Star about the school superintendent question. He writes like a man having a plenty of healthy brains.

Inclement weather caused our churches to be thinly attended last Sunday. The Sunday School concert at the Congregational Church also felt the effects of the storm.

Mr. Thomas P. Dotten, School Janitor, (not Batten as the JOURNAL printed it last week), who fell from his horse and received serious injuries, is still compelled to remain indoors.

Swampscott will be the summer, if not the permanent, home of Mr. Marcus C. Cook and family. It is probable they will remain at that fashionable seaside retreat for keeps.

The beautiful lawns of our wealthy citizens and the flower gardens and Mr. Twombly's floral paradise, all look lovely, and are very inviting to strangers, as well as townspeople.

The schoolhouse building committee appointed by the last Town Meeting have found out that the amount appropriated for the purpose is not large enough, and it is thought that the project will have to be abandoned for this year.

There was a fire about half past two on Wednesday morning last which destroyed a barn belonging to the J. F. Stone estate on the corner of Swanton and Florence streets, together with a horse the property of James Healey. Loss about $500.

I hear in a round-about that Judge Littlefield feels very grateful to your correspondent for the kind notice of him in connection with the Judgship which have once and again appeared in the Winchester column of the JOURNAL. He's welcome.

Bouchamp failed in his application for a license for a pool table and billiards. There really ought not to be an establishment of this kind in Winchester, whatever the editor of the JOURNAL may think about it. We have the loveliest town in the vicinity of Boston in which low-down associations should not be allowed.

According to the Boston Advertiser, a member of whose reportorial staff is a Winchester boy, and a good one, has this to say of an approaching brilliant even in Winchester high life: "The approaching marriage of General John M. Corse to Miss Francis McNeil of Winchester, is announced to take place June 21. Miss McNeil is a daughter of John McNeil of New Hampshire, a nephew of ex-President Pierce. General Corse is well known for his brilliant military record, he having been General Sherman's chief of staff on the march to the sea. He also led the attack on Missionary Ridge, and gallantly held Altoona, which was the basis of supplies for the army, against a vastly superior force."

A convention, under the auspices of the National Woman's Suffrage Association of Massachusetts, will be held in Winchester. There will be two sessions, one at 2.30 and 9.30 P. M. Addresses will be made by Mrs. H. H. Robinson, and Mrs. H. R. Shattuck, Miss N. W. Covell, Hon. Albert Palmer, and others. An informal discussion on the question "Is it right and expedient that women should vote?" will be held at both sessions. All, both men and women, whether in favor of this measure or opposed to it, are cordially invited to be present and take part in the discussion. It is hoped that the people of Winchester and vicinity will come to these meetings and hear what is to be said on a subject of growing importance.

H. R. SHATTUCK,
National W. S. Association.

I clip from the Star an interesting item which I ought to have sent the JOURNAL some days ago, containing the new officers of the Winchester Savings Bank. They are as follows:

President, T. P. Ayer.
Vice-Presidents — Dr. Fred Winsor, Stephen Cutler, J. F. Dwinell.

Assistant Engineer Call gave Videlite Hose Co. a complimentary supper on Thursday evening of last week. Speeches were made by Assistant Engineers Murray and Doherty, and Foreman Ames of 6, and Addington of 1.

At 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, May 23, the meeting house now owned and occupied by the Congregational Society will be sold at public auction. Terms of sale, conditions of removal, etc. will be made known at the time of the sale. This will be a fine chance for somebody to get a good building cheap, and it is probable the sale will draw a large number of bidders.

News and Notes.
The Boston Nine are repeating last year's experience—started out well, but fall in "bottom."

Mr. Crapo's Banking Bill was discussed at the House on Tuesday. The debate was a serious one.

James Wick, the great seedsmen of Rochester, N. Y., is dead.

Incoming British steamers are to be closely watched for the murderers of Cavendish and Burke.

Congressman Hewett said in Congress last Tuesday that the American banking system is the best in the world, and he is a Democrat too.

Dorsey, the boss star route swindler, went to Washington on Tuesday and pleaded no guilty to the indictment. Dorsey isn't afraid of the government's attorneys in this case, and he isn't a very brave man either.

Rural papers that their patrons pay for in garden truck are beginning to clamor for an adjournment of the General Court. They are anxious that the country members should get back to their farms.

The bright, rosy morning
Keeps over the hills,
With blushing adorning;
The meadows and hills;
While the merry, merry, merry horn
Calls come, come away,
Awake from your slumbers,
And had the new day.

The fox roused, etc.

Mr. Charles Porter, proprietor of the saw factory here, has just finished the largest hand saw ever made. It is 41 feet long, 5 inches wide, made of a single piece of metal, and will cut 10,000 feet of mahogany in a day. It is the biggest saw in the world of its kind.

Mrs. J. H. Price will summer at Hyannis where she has already gone. It is a lovely place—Hyannis is quiet and delightful.

The ladies' parlor in the Orthodox church has been tidied up very nicely, and the vestries have received an ornamental touch.

The meeting of the Village Improvement Association last Friday, on account of the weather, was not very numerously attended.

I see by the circular just issued that there are two Winchester young ladies, the Misses Brackett, attending the State Normal School at Salem.

For the Journal.
Woburn Improvement Association.

An article in relation to the above organization appeared in your last weeks issue. Allow me to state for the benefit of your readers, that the Association is regularly organized and meetings of the Executive Committee are held twice each month, on the second and fourth Mondays, due notice being given of date, place of meeting and hour, by the Secretary. We think we are making progress, but we desire and must have a fair membership before much can be done in the necessary and important work for which we were instituted. Our depot master, Mr. A. S. Wood, is Treasurer, from whom certificates of membership may be had at all times on payment of fee. We have not held public meetings because our membership is not large and has not called for them, but the matter is under advisement, in good hands, and when the opportunity moment presents itself a public meeting will be called. If any, "business enterprises are floating around in search of the best locations," it has not come to the knowledge of the committee. Allow me to state that members find no fault with what we have done, or done not. If our efforts are not satisfactory to others, we cordially invite them to unite with us, and in that way create a sentiment favorable to the project. Will the Editor of JOURNAL join with us, and give us the advantage his superior knowledge can impart, that we may all work together for the common weal?

On Thirty Days' Trial.

We will send Dr. DeMolles' celebrated Electro-Volatile Water and other Electric Alkalines on trial for thirty days to young men and older persons who are afflicted with nervous Debility, Loss of Vitality, etc., gout, rheumatism, sciatica, and other diseases of vigor and manhood. As for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paroxysms, Liver and Kidney difficulties, Ruptures, and many other diseases, this pamphlet sent free Ad'ts, Voltaike Bell Co., Marshall, Mich. 44-22.

Consumption.

To prevent night sweats, to ease the cough and arrest emaciation and decline, no other form of malt or medicine can possibly equal MALT BITTERS. This original Nutrient and Tonic is rich in nourishment and strength. It tides the patient over the most critical stages of the disease, digests and assimilates food, enriches and purifies the blood. It builds up the system by stimulating into new life the entire process of digestion.

"Cai Bono" has some sensible remarks in the last Star about the school superintendent question. He writes like a man having a plenty of healthy brains.

Inclement weather caused our churches to be thinly attended last Sunday. The Sunday School concert at the Congregational Church also felt the effects of the storm.

Mr. Thomas P. Dotten, School Janitor, (not Batten as the JOURNAL printed it last week), who fell from his horse and received serious injuries, is still compelled to remain indoors.

Swampscott will be the summer, if not the permanent, home of Mr. Marcus C. Cook and family. It is probable they will remain at that fashionable seaside retreat for keeps.

The beautiful lawns of our wealthy citizens and the flower gardens and Mr. Twombly's floral paradise, all look lovely, and are very inviting to strangers, as well as townspeople.

The schoolhouse building committee appointed by the last Town Meeting have found out that the amount appropriated for the purpose is not large enough, and it is thought that the project will have to be abandoned for this year.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horner, 100 Main Street, B. Hobbs, 158 Main Street, E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE METROPOLITAN HEALTH DISTRICT.

Last week a bill was reported by the Committee on Public Health to the House, providing that the territory comprehended within the limits of the cities of Boston, Newton, Cambridge, Somerville, Chelsea and Malden, and the towns of Brookline, Waltham, Watertown, Belmont, Arlington, Winchester, Medford, Woburn, Stoneham, Wakefield, Melrose, Everett, Revere and Winthrop, shall constitute a Metropolitan Health District, which shall be supervised by a commission, consisting of five resident gentlemen, to be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, who shall submit a report of their doings to the Legislature at its next session, with such surveys, plans, estimates and recommendations as they may be prepared to report.

At first blush this seems to be a feasible scheme for accomplishing a much-needed end, and one that will most likely meet with the approval of the cities and towns interested in it. The drainage question has become one of great importance to Boston's suburbs as well as to the city, and demands some general system on which to do the work and apportion the cost. The necessity of making such a district as is contemplated by the bill becomes still more apparent when it is considered that probably within a dozen years or so all of the towns and cities mentioned will be included within the corporate limits of Boston.

THE DECISION.

The full bench has overruled the exceptions in the Guiteau case, and the condemned man must swing. The jurisdiction of the lower court was fully sustained by the decision, thus removing the strong ground on which Col. Reed chiefly relied for the acquittal of his client. It is understood that further proceedings will be instituted to save the murderer, but there is no good reason for the belief that he can escape his sentence.

LET The committee which redistricted the state evidently considered carefully the feelings of the Woburn Journal and congressman Bowman and had not the heart to separate them. Messrs. Hobbs and Bowman still reside in the same district. This exhibition of kindly consideration on the committee's part is very touching.—Medford Mercury.

The Committee did very well indeed in this respect, but no better than when it refused to separate the Mercury and Cumming's. To have torn this loving pair apart would have been death to one or the other.

LET Woburn is afflicted with a new weekly paper. It is Democratic. It may be the "Uncle Mark's" Democracy is not sufficiently Bourbons.—Medford Mercury.

If you should have the temerity to say that to "Uncle Mark's" face he would take the kinks out of those handsome locks of yours so quick that it would make your head swim. His Democracy is simonpure, warranted fast colors, and yard wide.

LET With the annual leafing-out of the trees comes the demand from the rural press that the Legislature adjourn at its earliest convenience. Also, complaints that the Legislature has been the weakest and least efficient of any of its predecessors. All sensible people know that there is altogether too much law making and mending at these annual gatherings of the wisdom of the State, but this regular call for adjournment is foolish. It is only a habit, and a poor one at that.

LET The Geneva Award bill that has given Congress so much trouble in the last few years passed the Senate on Tuesday just as it went up from the House by a large majority. A big lobby has been behind it all the way through.

For the Journal.

WHAT WE PURPOSE DOING. The many questions asked in relation to the objects we seek to accomplish by such an organization as the "Woburn Improvement Association" induces me to crave your indulgence, and also a small space in your paper. In several of the towns within a radius of ten miles of Boston, these societies have been brought into existence by the personal efforts of those who take a pride in beauty, growth, and healthful condition of their Town.

Many organizations have commenced their existence within the year just passed, and but few can claim more than two years of life.

Malden and Melrose, each organized about two years ago, and have now a good membership. Their first year witnessed the struggle for life, incident to the development of such associations. Their labors were mainly devoted to the creation of a healthful sentiment, and hence an increase of number. To say they were successful, is but to repeat a matter of history—Melrose, more especially, being a snug compact town, and its leading citizens alive to the work, and the benefits to be derived, such as the aesthetic nature of their inhabitants craved.

The words of one of Malden's leading citizens, himself a very active spirit in the work: "They are a live people in Melrose, and neglect nothing that will contribute to the prosperity of the town."

The first year of their existence, neither of these towns made much progress in beautifying the territory within their boundaries, but the change in public sentiment was of marvelous growth, and today each, in its peculiar way, has the strongest Association of the kind in the state. The peculiar advantages possessed by Melrose, and the interest manifested by her citizens, has already made her the banner town. My friends of Malden, I think, will take no exception to this statement.

Woburn has already declared her determination to enter into competition with surrounding towns in "the uniting of the energies and influences of our citizens for the promotion of the public welfare of Woburn, and to aid in the development of all legitimate enterprises which tend to increase its prosperity." That the objects may be further explained, at any rate, made more clear than the above quotation from the preamble leaves it, I will quote from Article second of our Constitution, the following:

"The purpose of this organization is to awaken and encourage in the community a sentiment and spirit which will act for the common interest, creating and stimulating in the individual a regard for the elevation and improvement of the community, securing better hygienic conditions in our homes and surroundings, improving our streets, sidewalks, and public grounds; promoting natural scenery; building up and beautifying the whole town; and so enhancing the value of its property, and rendering it a still more inviting place of residence and business."

Is not the consummation of so great a boon to be desired? Will not all good citizens aid us and themselves, by giving their influence to a work that must conduce to the happiness and pleasure of future years?

On the evening of May 30, the Grattan Literary Association, which by the way is a growing society and a good one, is to give "Colleen Bawn" at St. John's Institute Hall.

After several days of very rainy weather it cleared up on Tuesday evening. It was not absolutely hot after the clearing, but the sun was a welcome sight to a good many.

Some of the neighboring papers say that the Middlesex Fells Association are to have a field day at the Fells next month. Woburn will doubtless be largely represented.

Hon. John Cummings was one of the subscribers for a portrait of Robert C. Winthrop to be hung in the National House of Representatives. The painting is finished and will soon be hung.

A couple of very handsome Lawrence young ladies have been canvassing Woburn this week for aid for the strikers of that city. They probably gathered in considerable wealth, for our people are rich and willing.

Everything is in apple-pie trim for the observance of Memorial Day, which promises to be one of more than ordinary interest. Should the day be pleasant, as it almost always is, there will be a large turnout and good display.

Our hand-stand may not be the very best in America, but there isn't one within ten miles of here, Boston excepted, that is superior to it. What made us think of this just now was that the stand is being painted (a rich, beautiful cream color) preparatory to the summer open-air concerts.

A good, fair price is added to the population of this town each year without any help from anybody except those that come here and make homes. This being true, how long would it take us to outfit Malden and Waltham in inhabitants if we should take hold and lift as they do in those places?

Instead of the Woburn Council of the Legion of Honor being in the throes of dissolution as reported last week it is gaining strength every day, and prospering finely. Less than half a dozen members were somewhat dissatisfied, but the feeling has been removed and no withdrawals will take place.

The Improvement Society have hired the hall over Mr. Dodge's store where their meetings in the future will be held. There is an encouraging sentiment respecting the organization, and we are informed by Mr. Bryant, its President, and Charlie A. Jones, its Secretary, that the meetings are well attended. And they ought to be.

The Music Committee of the Unitarian church have engaged for the ensuing year a male quartette composed of these gentlemen: 1st Tenor—Mr. Endicott of Boston; 2nd ditto—Mr. H. A. Davis of Boston; 1st bass—Mr. Charles C. Shaw of Woburn; 2nd ditto—Mr. S. N. Dickerman of Allston. It is first class all through.

The elements conspired against the McGibney Family and quite seriously effected their chequer while here. Their concerts were admirable. No company ever gave better satisfaction. The entertainments were high-toned and altogether capital; but the elements were against them—it rained all the time, and their audiences were not a quarter what they would have been had the weather been better.

Another immense audience attended the praise service in the Congregational vestries last Sunday evening. Settees and chairs were added to the regular seating until the great room was packed. Dr. C. T. Lang conducted the music of course which was exceptionally good and longer-drawn-out than common. There was a full orchestra, and the vocal accompaniment—this is putting the cart before the horse—was unusually spirited and full. Dr. March gave a most excellent and eloquent lecture on Character-building.

Horton has all the June magazines. A great deal of other literature too.

Property owners have until June 4 to return lists of their taxable property, polls, etc., which date isn't far away.

Hon. Charles Choate is recovering from his late ill term. He was out riding the other day, and will probably soon be about again as usual.

Thomas H. Hill & Co. are doing a good deal in the real estate business this spring, which indicates that matters and things here are in a prosperous condition.

Edmonds & Young have a card in this paper to which attention is called. They are experienced workmen, prompt, fair in their charges, and deserve public patronage.

John R. Flint and Benjamin Parker have been drawn as jurors for the civil side of the Superior Court, and Patrick Fallon and Christopher Francis for the criminal side.

An intelligent old gentleman at the upper end of the town says the present May has been the coldest since 1816. That year it was cold all summer, and bids fair to be this.

The Memorial History now in our Public Library is an elegantly executed work, and the fullest and best extant. Its portraits and illustrations of sites and scenes are superb.

By the first of June Messrs. Jones & Doyle's livery office will be in telephone communication with the outside world. The wire and instrument will be put in early next week.

Lieut. Halliday of the Woburn Phalanx, acting as one of the judges, last Monday evening attended the annual prize drill for the Pulsifer medal by Co. C. 5th Regt., of Newton.

The Hyde Park lawyer who bargained with Messrs. Hill and Grammer for the Mrs. Ellis house and didn't take it, purchased in another part of the village and will move here.

Master George C. Conn has been appointed local agent with full powers of the Boston evening daily called the Star. We understand he is securing quite a list of regular subscribers.

Our citizens in goodly numbers ought to go to Charlestown on the 17th of June and help celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, especially as Woburn was once Charlestown Village.

We are happy to learn from the Advertiser that its esteemed editor's troublesome eye (not I) is on the mend. Our neighbor is handsome, but green goggles do not enhance his beauty.

The late rains with subsequent sunshines did a good deal towards beautifying the lawns of gentlemen's residences, flower gardens, and clothing the trees in verdure. There is nothing like rain and sun for doing this thing.

Nothing definite is known of the designs of this town concerning the celebration, or otherwise, of Independence Day. But then there are two or three holidays that come in before the 4th of July, which must wait patiently its turn.

For a week or more there has been hurrying to and fro between this town and the Executive Chamber on Beacon Hill. It is surmised that the appointment of a Judge for the Woburn District Court has had something to do with all this hurry-scurry.

The Journal feels considerable anxiety concerning the fate of the application of a certain prominent Democratic lawyer of this village for the judgeship. Having heard nothing from it of late fears are entertained in this office that the petition somehow miscarried.

We do not hear that Bro. Hobbs has declined the Judgeship.—Advertiser. No: but you just wait, friend Allen, until the rest of them get through pestering Gov. Long, and then see what you will have to say about it. This is a tremendous year for "dark horses."

Chief Con has been looking into the screen business somewhat during the last few days, and the result is many of them have come down. This is as it should be: if rumselfing is legitimate why shouldn't it be exposed to the light of day just as calico or molasses selling is? Let every man walk in the line of the statutes.

While assisting Mr. McGibney and others to remove the piano from Lyceum Hall after the concert Tuesday evening, John Fleetwood had his left ankle dislocated by the instrument falling at it. John L. Perham, night clerk at Buss' was called up and had a doctor summoned who responded and put the ankle into shape again.

Charles D. Adams, Esq., is a prominent candidate for the office of Judge of the Woburn District Court. His petition has been numerously signed, and Hon. John Cummings, who probably has more influence at headquarters than all the rest of us together, favors Mr. Adams's appointment. He is a lawyer of ability and a good man.

A trio of young Stoneham bloods had an experience in this village about 11.15 o'clock last Saturday evening. They left the hotel and drove up Union street towards home with the intention of returning there, but owing to the storm which fiercely prevailed at that time or something else they got off the track and the first thing they realized with any considerable degree of distinctness was that the team was rapidly descending the incline on Montvale Avenue close by Main street. On striking this latter street the driver brought his horse sharply and suddenly to the left and in a moment the trio were sprawling in some very dirty kind of street mud, and the vehicle, a nice top buggy, had completely collapsed. Officer McSweeney was quickly on the spot and looking around found a mess of it. The sides of the buggy had caved in, the top had melted away as a topy top, one wheel had been wrenched from the axle, and the whole prospect was a discouraging one for the boys. The horse and debris were taken to Jones's stable, and the Stoneham chaps reported at their respective homes in season for a late breakfast. And as one of them said while viewing the wreck on Main street, "the old man will have to foot the bills" we suppose he did.

Another immense audience attended the praise service in the Congregational vestries last Sunday evening. Settees and chairs were added to the regular seating until the great room was packed. Dr. C. Next Tuesday the Celts hold their picnic at Hiawatha Grove.

There is a 7 o'clock, p. m. Sunday train from Boston to Woburn.

Mr. Dexter Carter bought the Congregational meetinghouse at North Woburn for $300.

Post 33, G. A. R. will attend divine services at the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

It is reported on good authority that Ed. F. Johnson, Esq., our respected young townsmen, has been appointed Clerk of the Woburn District Court. We hope the report is true.

The Woburn National Band will furnish music for the grand picnic and regatta to be given by the Enterprise Boat Club of Salem at Smith's Grove, Andover, on Memorial Day.

Burk Post, G. A. R., engaged the McGibney Family for a concert on Tuesday evening, in Lyceum Hall, and saved money out of it. There was a good attendance, the storm having abated, and the concert was a real good one.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Main Street, R. Robbie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutters, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

OUR NEW JUDGE.
Last Friday Gov. Long settled the judgeship question for the Woburn District Court by appointing P. L. Converse, Esq., of Woburn, Judge, and Charles D. Adams, Esq., of Woburn, and George S. Littlefield, Esq., of Winchester, Justices, or Side Judges. The appointments give excellent satisfaction to everybody, unless perhaps it may be to the Associate members of the Court, and even these gentlemen find no particular fault with the Governor's action.

The Journal has claimed all along that Mr. Converse should receive the appointment and given its reasons therefor, and it is with a large measure of satisfaction, not to say pride, that it realizes the extent of its influence on the Executive mind, and the part it played in settling the matter so satisfactorily to all concerned. And yet the JOURNAL claims to be modest, and of an uncompromising retiring disposition.

It would have been safe, however, to leave off the appointment entirely with Gov. Long. He is a clear-headed man and right minded. With his good sense and a disposition to do the best thing, he couldn't very well do otherwise than give Judge Converse the first position on the new Bench, for he is a gentleman well fitted by education, experience, and general cast of character to honor the place and satisfy the people. The simple truth is, a more fitting choice for the responsible post than that of Judge Converse could not have been made, and Gov. Long is entitled to the thanks of the District for his wisdom and fairness in designating so worthy and competent a man to be chief engineer in running the judicial machinery of the three towns.

With P. L. Converse for Presiding Judge, and Ed. F. Johnson for Clerk, the new court, which goes into operation on July 1, will prove a valuable acquisition.

THE JUDGE DAY CASE.

This case is disposed of and Judge Day is out of office. We bring it up solely for the purpose of commanding the action of E. D. Hayden, Esq., the Woburn member, respecting it. The legislative proceedings against Judge Day were an outrage from beginning to end. It was the worst piece of partisan persecution that has come under our observation in a great while. There was no call for any such proceedings, but unfortunately Judge Day is a Democrat, and had political and personal enemies down in Barnstable who were determined that he "must go." It may be replied, and with some show of reason, that Democratic Judges should be addressed off the bench on general principles—because they are Democrats; but there was no sin in singling him out and "going for" Judge Day in the bitter, unjust and unwarrantable partisan style adopted by the Republican members, with a few honorable exceptions, of the Legislature.

E. D. Hayden, Esq., voted against the address, and there he showed his good sense. We commend him for his independence, and courage in resisting this piece of Republican folly. In this he exhibited an amount of wisdom, decency and pluck that is pleasant to find in anybody, particularly in people who are sent to the General Court.

THE LEGISLATURE.

With the close of last week, and in season for the rural members to reach their homes and get themselves into devotional frames of mind for Sunday, the Great and General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts finished up the business of the session and was duly prorogued by His Excellency. The session was an unusually long one, but fully as profitable as any of its predecessors, a great many newspapers to the contrary notwithstanding. There was an uncommon amount of business laid before the two bodies, a good deal of which was of a very important character, and time was required to properly dispose of it. The time was taken and the business well done. The members were industrious, painstaking, frugal of the public monies, and of good behavior, and this seems to be all that is necessary to say about the session just closed.

THEM STEERS."

Last Tuesday Solon Chase, the champion Greenbacker of America, was nominated for Governor of the State of Maine at a Greenback convention held at Bangor. Now "them steers" will have stretch out and draw.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL thinks Congressman Bowman's chances for re-election better in his new district than in the old Fifth, and asks who can oppose him. Well, we think Robert M. Morse, Jr., would be a strong candidate and, perhaps, the natural one. There are, however, several others who would command a very large support. A vigorous opponent would defeat Mr. Bowman, but it is not at all certain that there will be one.—Medford Mercury.

If Mr. Morse is the "natural" candidate why don't he wade in?

If there is anything reliable in signs then it is perfectly safe to conclude that the Medford Mercury will be one of Henry Cabot Lodge's most enthusiastic supporters in the next Congressional contest in the Sixth District.

The Boston Post truthfully remarks: "Mr. Hayden of Woburn scored a success as Chairman of the Finance Committee" of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

The number of Republican names mentioned for Gov. Long's successors are nearly if not quite legion. Gov. Long can be his own successor if he likes.

Old Records.

It is interesting to dig and delve among ancient records of the town that gives one a home, if so be the town has ancient records to dig and delve among, and no less edifying than pleasant. Woburn has such records in great abundance. The Wyman collection of papers in the Public Library, those of Capt. Johnson, and others, are rich in local history, the value of which is greatly increased by passing years. The Librarian, Mr. Cutler, is arranging and indexing these valuable documents and records and putting them into easy come-at-able shape. This is a good thing to do, and away along in the distant future this work will be appreciated by generations yet to make their appearance on the stage of life.

Some of these old documents have recently fallen under our eye. Article 4 in the Town Warrant for the May meeting in 1791 reads:

"To see what the Town will do respecting a petition presented to the Selectmen desiring an article to be inserted in this Warrant respecting idle persons and persons who squander away the money they earn, and persons that are spending their estates so that the Town is or may be exposed to support them or their families."

Zebulon Wyman, Town Clerk, records the action taken on the above article by the May meeting as follows:

"Voted, To choose a Committee of 13 persons to assist the Selectmen in putting the law in force respecting idle persons and persons who mispend their time and money and are troublesome to others. Committee—Col. Baldwin, Capt. Brown, Capt. Bartlett, Major Douglass, Capt. Wyman, Jesse Richardson, Dea. Joseph Johnson, David Cummings, Capt. Kimball, Edward Walker, Ensign Timothy Winn."

In the judgment of a good many people such an article in the annual Town Warrant and like proceedings on it at the present day would be a good thing.

We give the following from the Parish records, going to show that the members were a spiritual people in those old days:

"Nov. 19, 1748. First, voted by said Parish to provide Two Barrels of Cider and 20 Gal. Rum and 1 qtr. hundred of Sugar for the raising of the new Meeting-house."

That was 134 years ago nearly. Other of these old records will be given in the JOURNAL every once in a while, and sometimes oftener, as space may permit.

For the Journal.

The Approaches to a Town.

Impress one so forcibly that neglects in improving and beautifying seem the more unpardonable on the part of its inhabitants.

Who that has not noticed the picture daguerreotyped on the mind by the first glimpse of the immediate entrance to a town? Enter and re-enter as few or many times as you will, the picture never presents itself again. We see it but once, to take in each particular object within the general outline. The law is well understood, and acted upon in the territory surrounding our homes.

The care devoted to dressing up, decorating, gravel walks, closely cut grass, and choice shrubberies, with which we seek to embellish and beautify in the most artistic designs, show our faith in the efforts we put forth to make the entrance inviting.

This law becomes the more exacting as we enter the edifice. Architect and artist pay willing tribute to its behests—none understand better than they, the just indignation of an offended eye.

The approaches to our town are but the surroundings of our homes; to perceive it no stretch of vision is required.

One of the objects of the "Improvement Association" is to reach beyond the boundary of individual ownership, to the crags and dells of the wayside, owned by all in common, and now awaiting the generous consideration of our people to their claim in their full share of the adornments of nature, awaiting in great profusion, in every distant "Fell" the friendly hand to transport them to a spot of beauty, yet in embryo, but awaiting the life giving power willing minds can impart.

No spot so unsightly that a few hours labor, the sines labor demands and is justly entitled to receive, that cannot be made not only attractive, but charm the eye of the beholder and furnish a picture never to be effaced.

Are we willing? Are we ready?

For Memorial Day services the weather last Tuesday could not have been improved upon.

Another rain on Thursday which, we suppose was needed, else it would not have been sent.

Mr. Bryant, President of the W. I. A., has some good thoughts in another column this paper.

Messrs. Jones & Doyle have got their telephone in running order, and can now sit in their office and talk with all mankind.

The Champney portrait has been received at the Library and the Committee, if they have not already done so, will have it conspicuously hung at an early date.

At the annual meeting of the New England Moral Reform Society held in Boston on Tuesday Mrs. E. Stearns of this town was chosen one of its Vice-Presidents.

Reference to his card it will be seen that Mr. E. Ellis will buy and sell buildings that are about to be or have been removed, and will give good bargains. Parties will do well to call on him.

Messrs. Copeland, Bowser & Co. have a new card this week to which particular attention is called. We can say truthfully and conscientiously that the firm have an excellent stock of spring and summer goods.

The number of Republican names mentioned for Gov. Long's successors are nearly if not quite legion. Gov. Long can be his own successor if he likes.

Our people were remarkably quiet and well behaved on Memorial Day. There was no boisterous or disorderly goings-on, the solemnity of the occasion appearing to have a mollifying and subduing influence on the conduct of all.

The praise meeting at the Congregational vestry last Sunday afforded an immense audience another delightful hour of worship. Dr. Lang's orchestra played the old Gospel hymns splendidly—with the spirit and the understanding also.

According to the bill the Woburn District Court will go into operation on July 1 next. In the mean time the Selectmen will provide a suitable Court-house.

Mr. Horace Allen, helmsman on the Hingham Journal, who is a son of Mark, served Decoration Day, or a part of it at least, with his parents in this village.

Mr. B. F. Whitemore of Montvale is an accomplished improvisatore judging from the poetic feat he accomplished at the G. A. R., dinner on Tuesday afternoon.

It is talked in a quiet way that Mr. Young's Memorial Day address was the best ever made before Post 33. The correctness of the saying is not doubted in this office.

The police donned their new dress on Tuesday and made a very nobly appearance. The helmets are fashioned after the Boston style, and taken all up and down the gentlemen look very nicely.

People are beginning to canvas the question of where their vacation will be spent this week. We don't only just fairly get over one thing before another comes along. "And such is life".

When the B. L. & C. R. R. Co. continues the Woburn Branch through and makes it the trunk line, Woburn can snap her fingers at any of the bugs in eastern Middlesex. And she'll do it too.

E. D. Hayden, Esq., will please accept our thanks for an "Outline Map of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts" showing the new Congressional Districts and the population of each city and town in 1880.

At the semi-annual meeting of the New England Association of School Superintendents held in Boston, last Friday, Mr. E. Davis, Superintendent of the Woburn Public Schools, was elected its President.

On the 17th of this present month of June the Woburn Branch of the Irish Land League will hold a grand picnic in Hiawatha Grove—the loveliest spot in all out doors. The affair is expected to be a very large and enjoyable one.

The Highway authorities are causing trees to be felled and trimmed at a great rate. In a few cases considerable heartburning has been occasioned by this work, to make the entrance inviting.

First National Bank—Statement.

For Memorial Day services the weather last Tuesday could not have been improved upon.

Another rain on Thursday which, we suppose was needed, else it would not have been sent.

Mr. Bryant, President of the W. I. A., has some good thoughts in another column this paper.

Messrs. Jones & Doyle have got their telephone in running order, and can now sit in their office and talk with all mankind.

The Champney portrait has been received at the Library and the Committee, if they have not already done so, will have it conspicuously hung at an early date.

At the annual meeting of the New England Moral Reform Society held in Boston on Tuesday Mrs. E. Stearns of this town was chosen one of its Vice-Presidents.

Reference to his card it will be seen that Mr. E. Ellis will buy and sell buildings that are about to be or have been removed, and will give good bargains. Parties will do well to call on him.

Messrs. Copeland, Bowser & Co. have a new card this week to which particular attention is called. We can say truthfully and conscientiously that the firm have an excellent stock of spring and summer goods.

The number of Republican names mentioned for Gov. Long's successors are nearly if not quite legion. Gov. Long can be his own successor if he likes.

Old Records.

It is interesting to dig and delve among ancient records of the town that gives one a home, if so be the town has ancient records to dig and delve among, and no less edifying than pleasant. Woburn has such records in great abundance. The Wyman collection of papers in the Public Library, those of Capt. Johnson, and others, are rich in local history, the value of which is greatly increased by passing years. The Librarian, Mr. Cutler, is arranging and indexing these valuable documents and records and putting them into easy come-at-able shape. This is a good thing to do, and away along in the distant future this work will be appreciated by generations yet to make their appearance on the stage of life.

Mr. Frank Pierce has in stock a great variety of summer styles in shoes, all very handsome and honest work.

Considerable of the Kinney estate, sold by the executors last week, was bid in by the representatives of the heirs.

It is the opinion of gentlemen interested that the Court-house, Police headquarters and jail should all be under one roof.

Fire-alarm boxes 12 and 13 have been changed to 62 and 63. Additional boxes will become necessary before a great while.

Mr. H. E. Strout bloom right out in his new card in this paper. Please glance an eye over it. Strout is the boss photographer.

Our people were remarkably quiet and well behaved on Memorial Day. There was no boisterous or disorderly goings-on, the solemnity of the occasion appearing to have a mollifying and subduing influence on the conduct of all.

—The worthy and amiable editor of the Advertiser appeared out on Wednesday in a new summer hat, neat clothes, and without his green goggles.

—The apple and pear trees are fairly loaded down with blossoms, which indicates that the crop of both will be very large this fall. The peach trees give no promise of fruit.

—The Woburn Herald reporter felt a good deal elated the other day over his "scop

WINCHESTER.

On Tuesday the mill-pond yielded to Bert Carlton's woonings at 3-lb. bass.

Last Sunday Mr. A. D. Hunt killed two black snakes which were each 3½ feet long.

Judge Littlefield's court will hang up its fiddle on July 1 prox. The new District Court supersedes it.

The Star speaks highly of the photographic work of Mr. C. R. Rosenquist. He deserves the Star's praise.

The houses of Mr. Sumner Richardson on Pleasant street have recently been greatly beautified by coats of paint and otherwise.

Painting, frescoing and so forth have changed the appearance of our Congregational Church, which is now sweet and beautiful to look upon.

There was good speaking at the meeting of the Women's Suffrage Association of Massachusetts here last week. The convention was well attended and an encouraging spirit pervaded it.

Bridget Bowler was haled before Judge Littlefield the other day on a charge of "cruelty to animals" for breaking the leg of a rooster belonging to Daniel Sullivan.

There existing some doubt in the court's mind whether a "rooster" is an "animal" or not, the case was continued.

This town is increasing in population as well as your smart, lively and thriving town of Woburn. Considerable building is going on this spring, and the village is spreading out in several directions. Just now there is something of a building boom at No. Winchester, a pleasant locality which yearly grows in importance.

Decoration day was generally observed in this place as a holiday. A delegation of the Grand Army post visited the Catholic cemetery, near East Woburn line, and decorated the graves of three comrades. At 4 o'clock A. D. Weld post 148, Commander W. A. Snow, 34 men, assembled its hall and marched to Wildwood cemetery, where the following services were held. Hyatt, "America"; reading of general orders by Adj't. A. G. Rice; music by the Everett band; prayer by Rev. J. F. Field; singing by the school children; hymn, "The Nation's Cry"; address by Rev. W. H. Ryer of Malden; hymn, "The Fatherland," after which the graves of 36 comrades were decorated.

Gen'l Corse, who will take the beautiful and accomplished Miss Frances McNeil for a bride on June 21 instant, is in town and will remain until the brilliant society event takes place. I am not in the way of knowing much about such things, but they do say that there never was such a commotion among Winchester young ladies about the question of wedding toilets as at the present time. There is going on a terrible slaughter of silks, velvets, satins and all the other rich and beautiful fabrics which fashion commands her votaries to erect their bridal robes of; and it is further insisted by some that the talented young reporter of the Boston Advertiser has with the aid of a few very particular lady friends already got descriptions of several of the exquisitely elegant garments minutely written out to accompany his account of the wedding to his paper. The Woburn Advertiser's local reporter will not probably get an invitation to the wedding, so no account of it will appear in that popular paper.

Postmaster Tobey of Boston is President of the National Arbitration League of America.

Prof. William B. Rogers, ex-President of the Institute of Technology in Boston, died on Tuesday while making an address to the graduating class of that institution.

Henry A. Scudder of Barnstable has been tendered the judgeship made vacant by the forcible retirement of Judge Day.

The Maine Fusionists held their convention yesterday. It was a Democratic meeting under another name. Their cohorts will be put to flight and scattered to the four winds of heaven by "them steers."

Michael Davitt, the founder of the organization, will attend the Land League meeting to be held in Boston on the 16 and 17 of this month.

Chelsea had a $30,000 fire on Wednesday afternoon.

The remains of Thomas Jefferson are to be removed to Washington.

The public debt was reduced $10,000,000 during the month of May.

Reports from the Northwest concerning the crops are very encouraging. Good harvests will better times.

The fight over the Dibble-Mackay case was terminated on Wednesday by seating the latter. The Democrats are raving over it.

Mrs. Garfield has been offered a residence in Williamstown, Mass., by several Washington gentlemen.

This has been Anniversary Week in Boston and it seems as though almost everybody and everything had taken a hand in them.

The Malley trial for the murder of Jennie Cramer continues with a fair prospect for the acquittal of the accused.

Julia Ward Howe and Lucy Stone were on deck at the Woman Suffrage meeting in Boston Wednesday.

Gen. Hancock is "mentioned" as Democratic candidate for the Governorship of Pennsylvania.

Some time this month Mr. Thomas Bailey Aldrich, editor of the "Atlantic Monthly," will sail for Europe.

The liquor dealers of Boston have organized to resist prohibitory legislation. They will spend a great deal of money to legalize their trade.

Labor strikes are reported from various quarters of the country, and things are beginning to assume a threatening aspect.

STOCK SALES.

The Memorial oration delivered here last Tuesday by Mr. A. P. Barrett of Woburn was a stirring one. It was briful of meat and patriotism and pleased the Post and people very much. The Memorial exercises were very interesting.

We call the attention of our lady readers to the advertisement in our columns of James Pyle's Pearline, for laundry and kitchen purposes. An article so popular and widely circulated, must possess merits that command it to the favor of housekeepers.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Congressman Chandler is at home in Boston.

MRS. LYDIA E. PINKHAM, of LYNN, MASS.,

Health of Woman is the Hope of the Race.

Is a Positive Cure
for all those Painful Complaints and Weaknesses.

It will cure entirely the worst form of Female Complaints, all ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, and the consequent debility and infirmities, and is particularly adapted to the Change of Life.

Mrs. J. C. Henderson, of Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "The use of two of Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets a day, for a few weeks, has entirely cured me of sick-headache, from which I formerly suffered terribly, as often, on an average, as once in ten days." Of all druggists.

That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times and under all circumstances act in harmony with the laws that govern the female system. For those who say they complain of the same trouble, it is unanswerable.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND is prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price 35c per box, 75c per box. Send by mail in the sum of plus also in the sum of postage, on receipt of price $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Send for pamphlet. Address as above. Mention this paper.

No family should be without LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS. They cure constipation, biliousness, and torpidity of the liver. 25c per box.

Also Sold by all Druggists.

A funny story, but doubtless a true one, comes to us by way of the liquor press. Whether thieves have fallen out, and so "peach" on each other, or otherwise, the truth is worth knowing.

A reporter of the New York Retailer tells the story:

"I asked a saloon keeper," says he, "how he accounted for his success as a retailer of beverages, and his reply was funny:

"I guess it's because I don't sell any but the best stuff. I keep no Turn wine or Cat wine."

"What on earth do you mean by that?" I asked.

"Why, I mean that I do not keep bad liquor for the second-class customers. In a certain part of Germany they have a second grade of some wine which they call Turn wine. The people drink it, and then for their protection they have a watchman appointed by the Town Council, and he goes through the streets every two hours during the night and rings a loud bell, crying out, 'Turn, Turn.' The inhabitants are thus awakened, and then turn over in their beds, otherwise the wine would eat a hole through their backs."

"What about Cat wine?" I asked.

"Oh, that's a name for wine that makes you feel as if you had swallowed a cat and somebody was pulling it out of your throat by the tail."

A Burglar Captured,

This morning about 2 o'clock, John Wood the well known plumber, who resides on Main street, was awakened by hearing glass break, on getting out of bed he received a severe blow on the head, and immediately grappled with the burglar, and after a terrible struggle succeeded in holding him until his wife obtained help. On being searched at the station, Mr. Wood's watch and wallet was found on his person. He gave the name of Robert Tarry. The broken glass proved to be a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which had almost cured Mrs. Wood of rheumatism.—Exchange.

CEPHALINE, taken cold, is an unequalled tonic for Spring.

Fortune is said to knock once at every man's door. Not only that, but fortune seems to climb into the windows of some folks and stay with them.

Much distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia and chronic diarrhoea is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy.

An Indian Chief, while in Washington, was taken to see a burglar show. After the performance he remarked, through the interpreter, that the Great Father was very kind to send the poor Indians blankets when they were so much needed at home.

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time, when I bought a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. I have used little more than one bottle and feel as well as at 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine." See advertisement.

A sutler has applied for a pension, on account of injuries received during the late war. Many of them were dangerously exposed that way when lean cheese cost $1.75 a pound, live weight.

The public has long since awarded to Ayer's Hair Vigor the foremost place among reliable Hair Restoratives. It is effectual, agreeable and absolutely harmless. It makes the hair fresh and luxuriant, and bind up his wounds. The old cabin is now used as a dairy.

Now Well and Strong."

SHIPMAN, Illinois.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I wish to state that my daughter, aged 18, was pronounced incurable and was fast failing as the doctors thought, with consumption.

I obtained a half dozen bottles of your "Golden Medical Discovery" for her and she commenced improving at once, and is now well and strong.

Very Truly yours,

REV. ISAAC N. AUGUSTIN.

"Discovery" sold by druggists.

A woman who does all her own house-work, attends to seven children, and turns her dresses half a dozen times to make both turn out, may be a good Christian, but when a lady in a $1000 carriage and a $500 dress walks at the door and asks her to subscribe to some charitable object, she can hardly be expected to act and talk like one.—Philadelphia News.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is designed to meet the wants of those who need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies. No other article takes hold of the system and fits exactly the spot like Hood's Sarsaparilla. It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving all renewed life and energy. $1 a bottle; six for $6.

Gus Miller and Matthew Jones were arrested at Kansas City, Saturday, charged inciting the mob of 1,000 persons, which on April 30 hanged Levi Harrington, a colored man. It is believed that sufficient testimony has been obtained to convict Miller and Jones.

Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney, Liver or Urinary Diseases.

Have no fear of any of these if you use Hop Bitters, as they will prevent and cure the worst cases, even when you have been made worse by some great pulled up pretended cures.

Societies for the abolition of the treating custom, so popular among business men, are nothing new. As long ago as 1717, a society having this as its object, was founded by one Segismund Dietrichstein, evidently a German. Perhaps is mission and existence will go far to account for the absence of treating in Germany.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by "Buchupaida." $1, at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

Salt Lake officers have returned from Colorado with two of the cattle thieves of southeastern Utah, one having been killed in the attempt to shoot the sheriff. Three of the gang are still at large, but it is believed that the nucleus of a dangerous organization has been broken up.

Sick-Headache.

Mrs. J. C. Henderson, of Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "The use of two of Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets a day, for a few weeks, has entirely cured me of sick-headache, from which I formerly suffered terribly, as often, on an average, as once in ten days." Of all druggists.

The orphan's court at Philadelphia, Saturday, decided that Mrs. J. Edgar Thompson, the widow of the late president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is entitled to over $50,000 under the provisions of her husband's will in preference to certain charities which claimed the money.

Strength and regularity of the bowels are assured by using Swedish Botanic Compound.

LYNN, March 8, 1882.

Mrs. John Belcher, No. 1 Suffolk street, states that her daughter has taken Swedish Botanic Compound for humor, general debility and weakness. It has done her a great deal of good. I recommend the Compound to all as the best alterative Tonic and Blood Purifier and Spring Medicine that can be obtained.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1882.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

It is said in Washington that Hon. Francis B. Hayes will be a candidate for Congress this fall, that Mr. Bowman's new district in Massachusetts. Mr. Bowman's new district has been said here within a few days, though by persons who are not friendly to Mr. Bowman, that Mr. Bowman will not be a candidate for renomination.—Journal.

The expectation in this part of the District is that Mr. Bowman will be a candidate for re-election. He has a great many friends who will insist that he stand for another term.

It is reported that Henry Cabot Lodge, having lost all hope of going to Congress from the Sixth District, will claim Boston as his place of residence and run for Congress in the Fifth District.—Charlestona News.

To be sure there are people in the Sixth District who would prefer someone else to Mr. Lodge, but it is not at all probable that sufficient opposition will be developed against him to prevent his nomination and election. It would be a great credit to the Sixth to send him to Congress.

The Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind will hold the semi-centennial anniversary of its establishment, together with commencement exercises of the school, at Tremont Temple next Tuesday, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Gov. Long will preside and Col. T. W. Higginson will give an address. A very fine musical and literary programme has been issued from which we judge the occasion will be a very pleasant one.

Mr. S. B. Chase, Secretary of the Fall River Board of Trade, is making it hot for Col. Carroll D. Wright, manager of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics, etc. They are also giving the Bureau itself some nuts to crack. When Col. Wright can show that the Bureau has ever done anybody, except its officers and employees, any good he will find no trouble in adding to its list of friends.

If James Russell Lowell has resigned or been recalled by the government there are good people in the Fifth District who think he will be just the one we want for Congressman next fall. The suggestion furnishes food for reflection. James Russell Lowell, the great author, professor, and all that! This certainly looks well; and besides a great many say he is a statesman.

The letter of Mr. Blaine to the Republicans of Maine declining to stand as a candidate for Congress this fall takes the wind all out of the sails of his enemies, and leaves such journals as the Boston Herald nothing to find fault about for the time being. But they will soon scare up something to "pitch into" him for.

A Loyal correspondent says that Mr. Cabot Lodge's election to Congress next fall is a cock sure thing. No doubt of it. Being composed of the material that statesmen are made of the Sixth would do itself honor by sending him to Congress, and it looks very much as though that is just what they are going to do next November.

It is stated in the despatches from Washington that a bill will soon be introduced in the Senate to reduce letter postage to two cents and to place newspapers on the free list. Such a reduction of rates would largely increase the revenue of the Postoffice Department, and soon make it self sustaining.

The Republican prospects in Maine were first-rate until Capt. Bontelle of the Bangor Whig secured delegates enough to nominate him for Congress, and now they are not so good. The party can't carry him and float.

The Boston Courier is one of the very best Sunday papers published anywhere. It was established in 1824, but one wouldn't think it from its vim, vigor and sprightliness.

The State election in Oregon took place last Tuesday and resulted in a good Republican victory.

Montvale.

Woburn, in population the largest town in the State, is blessed with a territory as varied in picturesque scenery, as the heart could desire. Nature, in profusion, bequeathed to her people an inheritance more liberal than she has bestowed on most other towns. The beauty of her landscape, in waving upland, fertile valley, wood-clad hills, and rolling slopes, is worth miles of travel to behold; with that charming sheet of water, so beautiful, as to be the admiration of tourist, and the pride of her people.

Let those who enjoy a delightful water view, visit the grounds near the "Hudson Mansion," on a moonlight night, and behold a scene of enchantment, for dazzling beauty as fascinating as nature can furnish, and meditate on what it is, and may become. If he does not awake from his reverie of mingled emotions, and allow his admiration to raise into exclamation, his component parts are not of the kind the writer claims for the majority of his race. Stay the hand of the despiser, and preserve Lake and its surroundings, in their primitive grandeur, and make it the fount of inspiration for poet and painter.

The purity of its sparkling water has become proverbial; its draughts so refreshing and invigorating, bestow a life-giving power on all who partake.

Lake Chauncey, in memory of one of Woburn's favorite citizens, would be most fitting and appropriate, and such a recognition as our departed Librarian, were he now with us, would prize beyond estimate. It is certainly a fitting tribute to one whose services entitle his memory to the lasting gratitude of a generous people.

Woburn ere long will become a city, and is destined to grow out of all proportion to any period in her previous history. Fancy a roadway adorned with the stately pine, graceful elm, sedate hemlock, majestic oak, and the luxuriant maple with its wealth of foliage on either side, lit with gas, and furnished with seats, surrounding that charming sheet of water, Lake Chauncey, with its retiring and pleasant Mall. It would become the attraction of the town, and increase its numbers with appreciative, law abiding, order loving people.

To the mechanic, and to the working man, it would be a healthy resort, where, with their family and friends, they could enjoy a refreshing breeze—an invigorating enjoyment, or exercise, after the toil and confinement of a hot summer's day.

It is a work within the power of our citizens to perform, and active minds, generous souls, and willing hands await their opportunity for its successful development.

The Improvement Association seek to bring this change, and we trust the co-operation of all to insure its success.

With the growth of the town in wealth and numbers, means for its improvement will be forthcoming. A wise and liberal policy dictates its commencement now, while land may be secured at a nominal sum. The income from taxable property the improvements create, would in a few years liquidate the debt, and make our town the most attractive of any in the State.

Shall it be done?

CHAS. B. BRYANT.

For the Journal.

Worthy of United Action.

I was exceedingly gratified with the sensible and truthful words of the President of "The Woburn Improvement Association," relative to "The Approaches to a Town," which appeared in your valuable JOURNAL of the 23d; and, I am sure, all, who remember "first impressions," will agree with him in his conclusions. Well do I recall, not only my aversion to a certain locality, but to a residence there, because of its proximity to a certain locality, but to a residence there, because of its "approaches," as well as what seemed to be the general negligence of the people, "to the manor born," in their surroundings.

Years had passed since I had seen the place, when I was consulted by an intimate friend, to as to the purchase of a certain estate within its boundaries, and, although it was represented, in glowing language, as lovely and beautiful, I could not forget what "the first glimpse" had daubed over upon my mind, and expressed grave doubts as to the reality of the picture drawn, endeavoring to the same time to dissuade the friend from becoming a resident in so uninviting a spot, out of which, or within which, according to first impressions, nothing beautiful or attractive could come or be found.

Are we not as residents then responsible, not only for the damaging estimates of our "Town Approaches," but the slipshod neglect of the premises surrounding our homes or our estates—for the gathered and gathering exhibition of motley deposits of unsightly and unsavory rubbish by the roadside—for the absence of the sheltering and refreshing shade trees along our avenues and streets, for the weed-grown parks and unfilled holes by the side of our thoroughfares, for the forgetfulness of many simple acts of toll that would add comfort, pleasure, delight to the wayfarer or "stranger within our gates," as well as to ourselves for having done something in our day and generation, to make home, the town, the village dear and precious to our loved ones?

I had the advent of the "Improvement Association" in our town with joy, and congratulate the organization in the choice made of a gentleman so well qualified to preside over it, who not only with his knowledge and taste in all things pertaining to public improvements, is eminently fitted for his duties, but, with his generous impulse and earnestness of purpose, will in spire us with the hope that our waste places, as well as commons and squares, our "approaches" and departures will be made pleasant to the eye, safe to the foot, and worthy the admiration of all who perchance shall "see them but once." Who will help him? Will not all our citizens assure Mr. Bryant that they appreciate the purposes of the Association of which he is President, and by their expressions stimulate him to efforts that will produce results worthy of united action?

MONTVALE.

If there is a lovelier sheet of water with more charming surroundings than Horn Pond anywhere else we should like to have it pointed out. Lake Como don't surpass it in beauty.

Pray do you like to have it pointed out. Lake Como don't surpass it in beauty.

It is certainly a fitting tribute to one whose services entitle his memory to the lasting gratitude of a generous people.

Please read Charlie Munroe's new card. Everything in his store is choice, and the various stocks are full and superb.

Mrs. O. J. Hart fell from a high stool a few days since and sprained her ankle so badly as to compel the use of crutches.

A very fine residence on Plympton street is offered for sale cheap in this paper. It is a neat one and just as pleasant as can be.

It is said, probably with truth, that the present summer's series of open-air concerts by our bands will begin soon after the 20th instant.

Hennessey, who was mulcted for disturbing the meeting of the independent priest a short time ago, has settled up, and been released.

Warren Academy will make a capital High School building. It needs tidying up a little to make it perfect; and then the location is so nice!

The soda supplied at Mrs. Dodge's drug-store is prime. On a hot day it seems to go to the right spot. And then you can take any sort of a syrup you like.

We hear it remarked that the public interest in our Improvement Association is increasing, and that its meetings are better and better attended.

Mr. Frank E. Clarkson is canvassing hereabouts in the interest of the Suburban Telephone Co. He is a good, square, young man, and well posted in all telephone matters.

Physicians say that the true way for dyspepsists to ride is that which will shake them all up over and all at once. We should think Dr. Bartlett's cigarette would be a nice vehicle for dyspepsists to journey in our paper to-day.

Conductors O. J. Hart, George E. Fuller, W. H. Pratt, Richard Carter of the Woburn Branch have been appointed police-men in accordance with the statute in such case and provided.

It would be of interest to their friends and the public if those who expect to spend the vacation season out of town would leave their names and addresses with the JOURNAL for publication before starting. It's the style now.

All layers of genuine strawberries—no imitation affairs—should come around to G. A. Hall on Wednesday evening, June 14, and enjoy a real old fashioned strawberry festival, and a first rate treat. Tickets only 10 cents, at the door.

The boys who are killing off the golden robins and other song-birds for "scientific purposes" ought to be made to stop it, unless they can produce their licences. Such slaughter of the innocents should not be allowed by the authorities.

At the present writing our hopes of the Assessors finding and reporting the necessary 12,000 population to enable Woburn to apply for a city charter are very strong and lively. Possibly we may not reach the figure, but it will come terrible close to it.

It is quite a luxury to live just now. This is owing to lilacs and apple blossoms. The air is pervaded fore and aft and all around with the delicious perfume of these favorite flowers. Many apple trees are in bloom and fragrance.

Dr. C. W. Deering, who recently came from Boston and located here, is winning the good opinion our people and securing a nice practice. The Doctor came out here with the very best of credentials, and it is believed he deserves the good reputation gained in a successful practice before settling in Woburn.

Mr. Benjamin Champney, the artist, has left his Woburn home for his summer residence at North Conway, taking his family with him. He has a pleasant abode in that paradise of artists, in which he usually remains, engaged in sketching and painting, until the autumn frosts put an appearance.

Common Yankee potatoes are selling here for $2.40 a bushel, and Bermudas at $3.20. And what is worse, meat is dear in proportion. But then it is seldom that country editors get foreshadowed enough to enjoy the luxury of meat—potatoes and salt is about as high as they get on an average—so the price don't signify with them. But prices of living are pretty tough on poor folks.

We like Superintendent Davis's idea of examinations for admission to the High School, and commend the very sensible action the Board took last Tuesday evening on his report and resolution. There is real good sound sense in it, and for its adoption the scholars ought to be thankful. Common sense is such a scarce commodity in the world that when we meet a sample of it anywhere our first impulse is to make a note of it.

We have some real first class summer weather this week, which seems good. It is time for something of the sort, we should say.

Complaints begin to be heard of the heat. If the weather should try to please everybody it would find it up-hill business.

It is surmised that there are several unlicensed dogs about the streets. They are in great danger of being fully dealt with.

It is a lovelier sheet of water with more charming surroundings than Horn Pond anywhere else we should like to have it pointed out. Lake Como don't surpass it in beauty.

WINCHESTER.

Joseph Larock and Monroe Brown have been appointed special policemen.

The Grammer schoolhouse will be altered and improved to meet the wants of the district.

Lack of patronage induced Mrs. Pringle to remove her intelligence office from Winchester to Woburn.

The ice cream saloons are in full feather here and impudent young men begin to fight shy of the lasses.

The Star very properly drops a tear over the sale of the old mahogany mill here. It is to be sold at auction.

Dr. Davis will take a month's vacation in Montauk, for which region he started some days since. Mr. Marston takes his on Young's Hill, Revere Beach.

Rev. Edward C. Towne of Medford, delivered an interesting lecture in the Unitarian church last Sunday, on "The Origin, English Homes, the Religious Principles of the Pilgrim Fathers."

Mr. Henry Brodeur boasts of a son and heir who weighed 11½ pounds at birth. We congratulate the father on his success. Mother and babe are doing well. Dr. Church officiated.—Star.

Henry is very proud of the heir, and in announcing the event to the "boys" did the handsome thing.

The regular business meetings of the Board of Selectmen will hereafter be held on the first and third Mondays of each month. Of which fact the people will take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

The Women's Club are earnestly discussing the question of opening a coffee-house here. If properly conducted houses of this nature are productive of great good, and it is to be hoped that our ladies will conclude to establish one.

Mr. Walter Locke and Mrs. Catherine Sawtelle, only daughter of Mr. William Boynton, were united in the holy ties of wedlock by Rev. C. C. Hussey of Billerica, last Thursday week. Our people regret the departure of the bride who is highly esteemed by all.

So Mr. Converse did secure the judgeship, after all, and a sop has been thrown to two other gentlemen. Well, His Excellency thought pretty hard before he made the appointment. The Winchester correspondent of the WOBURN JOURNAL may now roll down his sleeves.—Star.

The workmen in the whitening department of Loring & Avery's currying shop sent a petition to the firm last Friday for an increase of $1 a week on wages—$12 instead of $11 per week—and suggested that they should quit unless their petition was favorably answered. Instead of getting the answer they were discharged.

While in attendance on divine services at the Congregational Church last Sunday, Dea. Joseph Huse was suddenly attacked with severe illness from which he is still suffering. He is one of the oldest people in town, and at first it was thought he was stricken with paralysis, but the doctors determine that such was not the case.

Mr. Blaine's letter to the Maine Republicans fell like a wet blanket on some people's spirits.

The Boston round up resignedly to their defeat. To be licked seems to be their regular diet.

The Republican majority in Oregon is over 1,000.

Capt. Boutelle of the Bangor Whig telegraph to the Associated Press that he has been "vindicated," the cause delegates of Bangor being pledged for him. Capt. is a modest creature.

The June meeting at Mystic Park opened last Tuesday.

Some notorious counterfeiters have been arrested in Kansas.

Franklin J. Moses, ex-Governor of South Carolina, a conspicuous example of the truth that "the way of the transgressor is hard." On Tuesday he pleaded guilty to petit larceny in New York and was sentenced to a term of six months in the penitentiary. Only a few years ago he occupied the highest office in the State of South Carolina, and wielded a powerful influence there. But he was a thief while occupying the Executive Chair, and going from bad to worse, has fetched up in the penitentiary.

The wheat crop fails to be prime in Minnesota.

The winding-up exercises of the Winchester Public Schools will take place during the last week in June: the Intermediate and Primary on the 25, 27, and 28; the Grammar on the 29; and the High School on the 30. At the close of these exercises the schools adjourn until next fall. Some time during the week previous to the close, candidates for the Grammar and High schools will be examined on written questions by a sub-committee. It has been ordered by the board that teachers shall not receive present from their schools or classes in the same.

Mr. Journal, d'you ever take a stroll over Main street fr<sup>m</sup> Woburn to Winchester, or vice versa? I, no you should. It is just two miles from Winchester Common to Woburn Common. The street is wide and level with the very best of sidewalks all the way from one village to the other. What do I say from one village to the other? It is one continuous village from Common to Common. For the entire two miles the street is flanked on each side with fine residences and cottages, all having smoothly-shaven lawns and flower gardens and fragrant shrubbery, and on a pleasant afternoon, or what is better on a clear, cool evening, a walk along this much travelled thoroughfare—a leisurely tramp, I mean—is just as delightful as anything can be. If you are too tired to walk back trains and barges are running all the time and for a nickel you can enjoy the two-mile ride and be set down home in a tree. I think the walk just altogether too awfully too too.

Operatives who are closely confined to the mills and work-shops when you see them, do not procure strength through the skin-sick, exercise, and in Plagues, Blotches, &c., in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

"Well, lad," was the reply, "I'll take the pig; and if there's aught over, I'll pay thee the balance."

"I believe I owe thee seven pounds."

"Now, I've a pig that I've fed instead of feeding the publican, and thou can't have the pig."

"Well, lad," was the reply, "I'll take the pig; and if there's aught over, I'll pay thee the balance."

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time, when I bought a bottle of Parker's Parker's Tonic. I have used little more than one bottle and feel as well as 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine." See advertisement.

The only stalwart suspended during Arthur's administration will be Guitéau, the Rochester Union observes.

Parents who allow their children to grow up with scrofulous humors bursting from pore are guilty of a great wrong. Think of them pointed out as branded with a loathsome disease, and you will readily procure them the Cuticura Remedies.

A pure, wholesome distillation of witch hazel, American pine, Canada fir, marigold, clover blossoms, etc., fragrant with the healing essences of balsam and pine. Such is Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh. Complete treatment for $1.

When I shook hands with him last year, he was sixty-four years of age, and had been an earnest worker for temperance and a consistent Christian for twenty-nine years. His sons were a successful Christian minister. He occupies a respectful position; has never been forsaken; has been blessed in "basket and store," body and soul, and has been the means of great blessings to others. The beginning of all this was the blending to a good impulse and giving up what is believed to be wrong. Such a lesson needs no comment.—John B. Gough's new book "Sunlight and Shadow."

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1882.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1882.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horne, 155 Main Street, R. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutters, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

POLITICAL.

The press of this District appear to be warming up rather prematurely over Congressional matters; likewise, over other questions which the people will pass upon next fall. We select at random and quote a few items afloat the subjects from some of our near neighbors:

Just now it is Hon. Francis B. Hayes who appears to be the greatest stumbling block in the political path of Hon. S. Z. Bowman. Mr. Hayes, it is said, seems to have no cause for his stand, and has claims upon the party which are not likely to be ignored for those of the Somerville statesman. Political aspirants, like the canines, each have their little day.—Medford Mercury.

This flows from the prolific pen of a respected member of the guild outside of our District; but the Mercury is deeply interested in the welfare of its old friends and therefore makes bold to submit a few remarks, albeit its stroke is somewhat wild and unsteady.

The name of Hon. James Russell Lowell has been brought forward as a candidate for Congress from this district. It may not be generally known, but nevertheless true, that in event of resigning his present position he intends to remain abroad some years longer.—Cambridge Tribune.

Perhaps Minister Lowell could be induced to forego the pleasure and profit of a few years' residence in Europe just now by an offer of a seat in Congress; and it is not entirely certain that he may not consent to become a candidate.

Most of our exchanges are boomin' for Bowman. Some of our exchanges use the name as a "boomer" to score timid electors with.—Stoughton Independent.

This too is a clarion note from an esteemed contemporary in the Sixth District; but as a "straw" it is worthy of a conspicuous place among these extracts.

Cambridge Chronicle sagely remarks on congressional candidates when it says: "The first thing to be done is to throw aside at once all small talk." Then Brother Porter, rally for Bowman, who has had four years of honorable service in the House of Representatives, passage of several important bills and claims, is careful of the needs of his constituents, and every way worthy a renomination in the new district of which Cambridge is an honorable part.—Somerville Journal.

Mr. Bowman has a staunch able supporter in the Journal. It is doing yeoman's work for its candidate, and it will deserve to whether it wins or not.

It is the state secession which is about the source of D. Hayes's nomination. Mr. Hayden reflected much credit upon the town of Woburn by his prominent and praiseworthy part in the recent Legislature, and cannot be thought unreasonable in asking for one step more on the ladder. He would make a good senator.—Medford Mercury.

Though we know nothing of Mr. Hayes's thoughts or feelings respecting the State Senatorship or anything else, those who know him best will endorse the statement that he is not seeking, and will not seek, any office in the gift of the people this fall. He has no "ambition" for political advancement in the sense in which the Mercury puts it, though in the last three Legislatures he has demonstrated his ability to fill any position to which the people might set fire to elect him with honor to himself and credit to his constituents.

The name of Hon. Francis B. Hayes is mentioned in the Journal from the new recruits of the Fifth District, received with great satisfaction on all sides. His name carries with it a tinge of strength such as few men possess in any district. He is widely known to be an honest, fearless, independent and thoroughly capable man in whatever position he has been called to fill. *

From every town in the district comes up the hearty assurance that he is emphatically on the side of the right, and there can be little or no doubt, in this writing, that his nomination is certain. While he is an out-and-out Republican, clear to the core, yet it may not be amiss to state that the gentlemen most prominent in the Democratic party have said they should not object to see him elected, and, in fact, would be inclined to vote for him.—Cambridge Tribune.

The statement that Mr. Hayes's name is a "tower of strength" is news in this region of country. That he has considerable of a certain kind of "strength" is admitted, but if we have been correctly informed, it possesses very few, if any, of the characteristics of a "tower," on the contrary, it is the sort that old fashioned people commonly keep in iron-bound chests, or perhaps stockings. The Tribune thinks "his nomination is certain." The fact, no mortal man can at this early hour name the choice of the nominating convention. Besides all which, the fact that Democrats are favorable to Mr. Hayes's nomination and "would be inclined to vote for him" is a good reason why he should be regarded by Republicans with suspicion.

The Cambridge Chronicle closes up a clever editorial on the situation, in which the candidacy of Mr. Bowman is opposed, but no name substituted for his, with this language:

There are several good names before the people for the nomination, and we think the time is ripe to take a look at them. But one thing we feel quite sure, in spite of the excitement of our Somerville neighbors, that choice will not be our esteemed friend, Mr. S. Z. Bowman.

MAINE.

At the Republican State Convention held in Portland last Tuesday, Col. Robie of Gorham was nominated for Governor over Thomas by about one hundred majority.

Reed, Dingley, Boutelle and Milliken were nominated for Congress.

We are in receipt of a very neatly printed pamphlet bearing the title: "Address delivered before the Citizens of Nahant, Memorial Day, 1882, by Henry Cabot Lodge." The productions of the pen of this author are always worthy of careful perusal, and not only so, but the reading of them never fail to please a properly trained mind. He always employs good, solid English, and the valuable information and sound sense which his writings contain recommend them to people of thought and culture. Mr. Lodge's Memorial Address is excellent, and has received high encomiums from the press.

On the 27th of next August the National Prohibition Alliance will hold a convention in Chicago to which each State Alliance is to send delegates. The main object of the convention is to bring about a consolidation of the various temperance organizations of the Union, the more effectually to carry on the work of reform. The Massachusetts Alliance, of whose Executive Committee Mr. Amos Cummings of Woburn is Chairman, will hold a convention on the second Wednesday of July to select delegates to the National one at Chicago.

Tomorrow, June 17, the Middlesex Fells Association will hold their second "Festival of the Forests" in the Fells, which noted occasion will be honored by the presence of Essex and Middlesex Institutes, the Natural History Club of Newton, and representatives of the Board of Forestry. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. George B. Loring, U. S. Com. of Agriculture, and other distinguished farmers, foresters and gentlemen. As the Fells contain 3,000 acres of land, 400 acres of water, the President, Mr. Elizur Wright, thinks there will be room enough for all, and so think we all of us.

WINCHESTER.

A skillful mechanic has done a good job on the Hook and Ladder truck.

Mr. Charles J. Staples, of the Divinity School, Cambridge, will occupy the desk of the Unitarian Church next Sunday, as he did last.

Goodbye, old Bandstand! It has been removed and will cumber the Common, with its crooked legs, broken back, and caved-in ribs, no longer.

Mr. Frank A. Patch, who has long been absent in pursuit of health, has returned as vigorous as ever. His numerous friends here welcomed him back cordially.

A special meeting of the Unitarian parish will be held on Monday evening, July 10, to consult and perhaps take formal steps towards settling a pastor over the church.

J. C. Larock, the light-weight champion collar-and-elbow wrestler, who was defeated by McDonald of Canada, last fall, will try him again at Stoneham on Saturday, for $50 a side.

Our public schools will close on June 30 to the infinite relief of hundreds of young people. Then the long vacation—the joy of the average pupil—sets in, and may they all enjoy it.

The grand Lawn Party that was to have been given on Tuesday evening at Mr. Greeley's was postponed to Thursday, when, the natural presumption is, a really jolly time was enjoyed.

Mr. Henry C. Whitten left last Saturday for a yachting cruise down on the coast of Maine in company with several Boston gentlemen. He reported to his family from Portland a few days since, all well and rugged.

The Stoneham Concrete Co. are making the finest kind of walks in front of the Gifford school-house and neighboring estates. It's a good thing to do. The Wyman school-house too is having its concrete walks as big as the best of them.

I wish to remark that Winchester never in all her born days looked more beautiful than at present. She is a delight to the eye and rest to the soul. If Boston has a more attractive suburb than Winchester I for one should like to have it trotted out or named at least.

The versatile correspondent of that valuable family and fireside newspaper, the Woburn Advertiser, indulges in reminiscences, scrap-books, retrospectives, etc., etc., respecting the glorious 4th of twenty-two years ago here, which, it is presumed, will interest a large crowd of readers.

The Star and the Woburn Advertiser are at their old tricks again—clawing each other. Two such staid old hebdomadals ought to know better. Why can't the brethren dwell together in unity? They seem to be honest, well-to-do, and well-intentioned folk, then why not let each other pursue the even tenor of its way?

Last Sunday evening the Unitarian S. S. gave their Floral Concert, the exercises, which were very pretty and interesting, being conducted by Dr. Winsor. The floral decorations were profuse, tasteful, and elaborate, and it would be hard to find a church more attractively arrayed than that one was on this pleasant occasion.

I am one of the many who send shoes, figuratively speaking, after Miss Ida Randall who has gone to the Far West for a protracted visit. Meaning by that, that I wish her well and much joy of her trip and stay. She has hosts of friends here who will welcome Miss Ida back with open arms and warm hearts, if she ever comes.

The Star, which is always reliable, has this concerning the base ball match to be played on the Common, Saturday:

A grand match-game of base ball will be played June 17, at Winchester Common, between the Dogtown nine, Captain Ned Whitten and the Hill or mitre men. J. K. Skillings, Mr. Lewis Lucas of Boston, will officiate as umpire. Mr. George Riley, scorer. After the game the nine will partake of a collation, at the expense of the losing nine. Mr. Frank Dupee, the well-known pitcher, will handle the ball for the Dogtown nine. Game called at 9 A. M., sharp.

It is rumored that a good deal of sport is anticipated by the boys here tomorrow. There is to be, so I am informed, a square-up, toe-to-toe baseball match played on the 17th between two picked and eminent nines of Winchester, and the surmise of most people is that a good deal of wool will fly on the occasion. There are expert ballists in the neck of woods, and they will be in force and uniforms on Saturday. The Common has been selected as the arena in which the gladiators will contest for the prize.

They are having quite a fuss over fishing in the ponds here. Judging from what I hear and see some people, who ought to, don't know the law applicable to the sport, and owing to this ignorance the matter is "mixed," and some of the boys suffer. In my humble opinion there never ought to be any law against fishing anyhow. No wonder the boys think this isn't a free country. When a boy is deprived of the privileges of running away from school and going a-fishing what is the boasted freedom of this country good for, anyway? What did our forefathers fight for, say?

Arabs and their Horses.
The Arabs are descendants of a once mighty race. While the other nations of the world were sunk in barbarism and ignorance, they were the possessors of science and learning. They were industrious observers of the stars. Algebra was also derived from them, and in arithmetical puzzles they still greatly delight, as the following favorite anecdote shows. A man dying wished to leave to his three sons seventeenth camels; to the eldest he left a half of them; to the second, a third; to the youngest, a ninth. They soon found they could not divide them justly, and while they were in the greatest excitement about it a man riding up on a camel asked what was the matter? When they told him, he got off his camel and drove it among the seventeenth. "Now," said he, "let each take his share as his father directed." Then the eldest took half, which now amounted of course to nine; the second took six; the youngest two, and the stranger mounted his, and rode away amid their bickerings.

Then he bethought him it was chore time and he started home on foot. In fact, he had fit a camel home. And when he was unloading his bundles on the kitchen table his wife asked if he had sold his horse and wagon at the village.

"By jings, I forgot it," he exclaimed, and he dropped the kerosene can and made a grease spot on the floor.

"Forget it!" said she. And she put her right fist on her right hip and her left on her left hip.

Then she looked at him sort of pityingly.

Suddenly a thought seemed to strike her.

"Let me smell your breath, sir!" and she did, but he was sober. Then he plodded back to town, and unhooked the horse and backed him out of the deep hole he had stamped in the ground, and drove home. He went to bed merrily that night, and he hasn't been so self-assertive since. His wife wears an air of superiority now.

Absence of Mind.

It was out at Wolcott, N. Y., the other day. The farmer drove into the village in the afternoon to do some trading. He didn't always drive in; sometimes he walked—in fact, often. This day he drove his horse under the Baptist Church sheds and anchored him there. Then he did his jug of molasses and five pounds of sugar and a half gallon of kerosene, and then he shaved a little cheese at the grocery, and sat down on the top of a barrel, and talked, and visited, and thumped his heels, and felt good and comfortable.

Then he bethought him it was chore time and he started home on foot. In fact, he had fit a camel home. And when he was unloading his bundles on the kitchen table his wife asked if he had sold his horse and wagon at the village.

"By jings, I forgot it," he exclaimed, and he dropped the kerosene can and made a grease spot on the floor.

PSORIASIS.

P. E. Carpenter, Esq., Henderson, N. Y., enrolls his Psoriasis Lesions of twenty years' standing, and says: "I have had a severe attack of mother had it twenty years, and in fact died of it. I believe Cuticura would have saved her life. My antiseptic treatment has been Cuticura internally and Cuticura Soap externally, and in less than a month she was cured. Cuticura cure, and not been troubled since." Corroborated by Bullard & Foster, Druggists, Keene, N. H.

MOTHER DIED FROM IT.

J. W. Adams, Newark, Ohio, says: "Cuticura Remedy is the greatest medicine on earth. Had the woman who died of it known of Cuticura she would have saved her life. My antiseptic treatment has been Cuticura which relieved or cured until I used the Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally."

CUTICURA.

Those who have experienced the torments of Salt Rheum will positively cure themselves of it with Cuticura Soap externally and Cuticura Resolvent internally. The same in case on record. Mollie Hada a Little Ram and How It Acted.

Mollie had a little ram as black as a rubber shoe, and everywhere that Mollie went he emigrated to.

He went with her to church one day—the folks hilarious grew, to see him walk demurely into deacon's Allen's pew.

The worthy deacon quickly let his anger pass over him, and gave it an unchristian kick between the sad brown eyes.

This landed rammy in the aisle; the deacon followed fast, and raised his foot again—alas, that last kick was his last.

For Mr. sheep walked slowly back, about a rod, 'tis said, and 'ere the deacon could retreat, it stood him on his head.

The congregation then arose and went for that 'ere sheep. Several well-directed butts soon pelted them in a heap.

Then rushed they straightway for the door, with curses long and loud, while rammy struck the hindmost man and shot him through the crowd.

The minister had often heard that kindness would subdue the fiercest wrath, "Aha!" he says, "I'll try that game on you."

And so he gently, kindly called: "Come, rammy, rammy, ram; to see the folks abuse you, so, I grieved and sorry am."

With kind and gentle words he came from that tall pulpit down, saying, "Rammy, rammy, ram—best sleepy in the town."

The ram quite dropped its humble air, and rose from off his feet, and when the parson lit he was beneath the hindmost seat.

As he shot out the door and closed it with a slam, he named a California town—1 that was "Yuba Dam."

Each glass of wine, however pleasant to the taste, each drink of beer, however invigorating it may seem, each dose of bitters however appetizing their effect, each drink of elder, however harmless it is called, and each egg-nog and Tom-and-Jerry contains seed of that infirmity which, cultivated until fully developed, will put you, disgraced and debased, into a drunkard's grave.

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time, when I bought a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. I have used little more than one bottle and feel as well as at 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine." For the "Kneadie" capsules of either sex this Company is unexcelled.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1882.

The JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Hor-ton, 195 Main Street, H. Robie, 156 Main Street, E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

IN MAINE.

The Neal Dow party in Maine are threatening to put a ticket into the field with which to kill off Robie and the rest of the Republican candidates. This would be in accordance with Gen. Dow's political tactics in the past. The Republican party have given the prohibitionists all the liquor legislation that can be found on the Statute books, but because Mr. Robie takes a glass or two more a day than Thomas does Dow forgets the favors temperance has had from the party and proposes to defeat it this year.

MICHAEL DAVITT.

Michael Davitt, the organizer of the Land Leaguers in Ireland, arrived in Boston on Tuesday evening, and received a noble welcome from the Irishmen. He made an address in the great hall of Mechanics Charitable building to over six thousand people, in which he eloquently defended the cause of Ireland, explained his relationship with Mr. Parnell, and discussed other matters. He will return to Ireland in about two weeks.

The Lawrence American, and Cambridge Tribune, two able and influential journals, have come out strong for the re-election of Gov. Long. There will be many more of the same mind as the canvass progresses.

In a well written editorial published last week the Medford Mercury laid the foundation for an earnest support of Henry Cabot Lodge for Congress in the Sixth District.

Reunion of the "Old Ninth."

On last Wednesday the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment, widely known as the "Old Ninth," by invitation of resident members seconded by Post 33, G. A. R., held their annual re-union here. This gallant regiment cut a conspicuous figure in the great War of the Rebellion and saw as much hard and perilous service as any other in the field. It is held in high regard by all the people of Massachusetts as well as by others to whom their brave exploits and hard service are known.

Wednesday was a prime day for the reunion. It couldn't have been better for a celebration if made to order. There was a clear sky, bracing breeze, warm, but not oppressively hot, sun, and a June balminess that was enjoyable.

A portion of the Regiment came by rail; another portion, from Salem, arrived about noon in the fine barge that fetched them across country. From all quarters there was a goodly turnout of surviving members of the "Old Ninth," and it was evident that they had come to Woburn to make a day of it. It was a very pleasant meeting of old comrades too, for all they seemed very glad to get together in re-union once more.

The members who arrived by train were met at the depot at 10.40 a. m., by the different Re-union Committees, Post 33, G. A. R., escorted by the National Band, and a detail of police under the orders of the Chief, and taken in charge. After greetings, the members of the Ninth formed in company with banners, flags and their old torn and tattered battle-flags—badges and white gloves constituting their only uniforms—and, preceded by Post 33, National Band, escort, and followed by a large throng of people, marched from the depot up Main to Common street, Common to Pleasant, Pleasant to North Warren, counter-march to Main, up Main to Salem, Salem to G. A. R. Hall.

Here the companies disbanded, and the members of the Ninth repaired to the hall where a business meeting was held and officers of "The Ninth Regiment Society" were chosen for the ensuing year.

The following is the complete list of new officers chosen:—President, ex-Q. M. D. G. McNamara of Boston; Secretary, T. H. Hill of Woburn; Treasurer, Col. P. T. Hanley; first Vice President, Major J. W. Mahan; Company Vice Presidents—A, Capt. J. A. McGonagle; B, Capt. Chas. Plunkett; C, John F. McMahon; D, W. W. Doherty; E, John F. Doherty; F, Lawrence Cunningham; G, John A. Dolan; H, Michael J. Murphy; I, James Cronin; K, Wm. A. Linnehan; Band, M. O'Connor.

At 2 o'clock or thereabouts the boys reformed and, with excellent music by the Band, escorted by Post 33, entered Lyceum Hall for dinner and all the word implies.

There was a good company in the Hall, made up of the veterans of the Ninth, the Post, Band, Town Officers, Distinguished Citizens, and Invited Guests.

The exercises in the hall were patriotic and pleasant. An excellent dinner was provided through the generosity of our people and after a good march and some waiting it was keenly relished by the old boys in blue and others who graced the heavily laden tables with their presence. The Hall was decorated, the tables bloomed, and everything wore a gay and festive air.

The order of exercises consisted of a Grand March by the National Band; An Address of Welcome, by James Skinner, Esq., Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, which was an excellent one, and listened to attentively and with evident pleasure by the large gathering; Toasts, namely: "The Day We Celebrate," "The United States," "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts," "The Town of Woburn," "The Old Ninth Massachusetts," "The Land Leagues of Ireland and America," "The Volunteers of the Late War," "The Irish Soldier," "The Press of the United States," "The Ladies."

These were interspersed with very fine music, all stirring and appropriate to the occasion.

N. B.—We manufacture our own goods, and this saves one profit to the Buyer.

In response to the toasts lively speeches were made by gentlemen present, some of which would have been less fatiguing if given in instalments—they were too long. Among those who responded, and right eloquently, were Col. P. T. Hanley, Major John W. Mahan, Gen. William Coggswell of Salem, whose address roused the spirits of the meeting to bidding pitch, and intensified by the speech of Rev. Father Murphy of Woburn, who followed the gallant General; Col. L. F. Kingsbury, Hon. A. E. Thompson and Thomas H. Hill, Esq., for the "Town of Woburn"—and excellent responses they made; Capt. Chris. Plunkett, Lieut. John F. Doherty, D. G. McNamara, who replied eloquently to "The Land Leagues of Ireland and America," and called forth loud and prolonged applause from the crowd. Cheers were given for Farnell, Davitt, Dillon, and other Irish leaders. A. P. Barrett of Woburn responded to "The Volunteers of the Late War," who was followed by Col. Strachen, Rev. L. P. Egan, Chaplain; John A. Coffey, H. B. Thayer, Chas. H. Harding, Commander of Post 33; Capt. J. P. Crane of the 22d Regt.; Mark Allen for "The Press of the United States"—just about his size; H. F. Smith for the Boston Globe. T. J. Dacy for "The Ladids," and others.

[Communicated] Old Woburn.

In the pleasant sketches of our Woburn history lately given in the JOURNAL, allusion is made to an old account against the town for the use of stones for a foundation for a new church, and also for the use of the Academy Hall as a place of worship during its rebuilding. The Academy was, without doubt, the Hall in the house now used by T. Salmon as a store, as a tavern was kept there. The hall was much in demand for public uses. A private school was kept there in the first quarter of the present century by a Mrs. Paige, who taught the more advanced English studies, and especially the ornamental branches of fancy work in embroidery, drawing, painting, etc., and there are some excellent living examples of the courtesy of teaching at school.

The legends of the part named the Wyman Estate, now the Orthodox church lot and street, was the evident site of the Bake House, and fifty years since a raised platform existed on which the oven rested, and in which bread was baked for the captive Hessians on Winter Hill, who were under the care of Capt. Jesse Wyman of Woburn.

This of course was prior to the use of the Fox estate where the senior Bond established his famous cracker bakery previous to its removal to Wilmington.

Gas pipes have been laid on Cambridge street near the Arlington line. The Advertiser's reporter says gas was first introduced into Winchester in 1850—32 years ago.

The other day Judge Littlefield sentenced John Hennessey, a lad of only nine years of age, to a year in the Reform School at Lowell for truancy. The opinion prevails here that the sentence was a pretty rough one on such a little boy for so slight an offence.

Mr. George Rice, on old Boston merchant, was 79 years old on the 15th instant, on which day his numerous friends remembered him and gave him a pleasant little celebration at the residence of his son Mr. E. H. Rice, on Eaton street. The old gentleman is highly respected by the people here, and may live to celebrate his centennial.

The Reform Club are trying hard to have the liquor law enforced. It is thought that Winchester supports several illegal vendors of the vile stuff for whose apprehension and punishment the Club are on the alert, and it is to be hoped that success will crown their efforts. Runnelling at the best is a terrible business, and all right-minded people should unite to put it down.

The editor of the Star, a right-down good, honest quill-driver, finds professional life here anything but a thoroughfare strewn with roses. HARPER'S MAGAZINE for July is a very strong Number. The frontispiece is a portrait of Emerson, engraved by W. B. Closson after the crayon drawing by Samuel Rowse. Apart from its value as the best portrait of Emerson, it is the most remarkable instance ever given of the possibilities of wood-engraving.

Two eminent English writers contribute illustrated articles—Henry W. Lucy and Amelia B. Edwards. The former, under the title of "Glimpses of Great Britons (Caught at Westminster)," gives us living pictures of the eminent members of the British Parliament; with interesting descriptions of parliamentary methods. The article is illustrated by sketches drawn by Harry Furniss, and portraits.

THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

The 5th district, writes "Templeton" to the Hartford Convent, is the only one in addition to the 2d in which there is much interest just now. There Francis B. Hayes has come forward to contest the field with Mr. Lowell. His name is on a movement of $1,000,000, which he has gained in railroad and other stock speculations. He is very close with his money, but is willing to expend with the aim of obtaining a seat in Congress. He ran against the popular boy of the 4th district two years ago, and came within about 100 votes of beating him. Mr. Hayes is one of collector Worthington's bondsmen, and perhaps expects aid from the customer, who, we are told, believes it is the collector's disposition to furnish a candidate. He is not the ideal candidate for Congress by any means, and the district can do much better. There are a large number of men in it of moderate ability who are capable of obtaining seats, and the party will not be one who can command a concentration of support has loomed up. Mr. Bowman does not abandon hope; but it seems settled that the district does not want him. The only possible chance for him would be a prolonged contest among a multitude of aspirants—and this chance is a very slight one. It has been suggested that, if Prof. Lowell were removed from his position at the State House, he would be a good candidate, and this is agreed upon as the candidate. It is not at all sure that he would accept a seat in Congress, and there is an element in the district that would be much averse to taking "anybody" fellow. It is safe to predict that he will not nominate here, any more than it is who will be the successful person in the 6th, where Henry Cabot Lodge is contesting with one or two prominent men of considerable local strength.—Boston Herald.

The Herald expresses the drift of public sentiment in this District concerning the candidacy of Mr. Hayes when it says "he is not the ideal candidate for Congress by any means, and the District can do much better." The JOURNAL was the first to suggest the name of Prof. Lowell for the position, and it proposes to advocate his nomination until he either refuses or gets it.

The Schools.

The Woburn school year of 1881-2 closed day before yesterday with the customary examinations, exhibitions, graduating exercises, etc., and the long vacation has got along at last. It has been a busy week for Committee-men, Superintendent, Principal, Teachers and scholars, for all have performed well their parts and fairly earned their couple of months vacation, and rest from school work in their different situations.

In no year have our public schools made better progress than during the one just closed. Antiquated ideas and methods have had no place in conducting them, but the best practical thought applicable to the education of youth has been adopted by those having the schools in charge. Only tried and approved methods of instruction are practiced, and the best features of a system that experience pronounces good are retained. Everything else is cast out among the rubbish. The result is, that very few schools in the State stand so high in the esteem of professional educators as those of Woburn, and none anywhere out-rank them. During the year the visits of Superintendents from abroad have been unusually numerous, and almost invariably visits of teachers have followed those of their Superintendents, they having been sent here to study our models and to perfect themselves in the business of teaching. Nothing could speak more highly of the superior character of our schools than the fact that they are held up as a pattern for others to follow and are in such repute among the best school men in the State.

The exceptional excellence of our schools is of course largely due to the wisdom and fidelity of those under whose care they are. It is not to be presumed that our pupils are more intelligent or industrious than pupils elsewhere, yet their scholarship ranks number one in every department. The credit of this belongs to no single piece of machinery in the system, but should be divided, though perhaps not equally, among several.

First the Board of Education. In this the people are fortunate in having the Board filled with good men. They are not only capable in point of education, but have a regard for the welfare of the schools, and for the promotion of their interests are willing to, and do, make sacrifices of time and labor.

But without a Superintendent of suitable qualifications and proper disposition to oversee and direct affairs our schools would make a much less satisfactory showing than they do. Their success largely depends on the character of the supervisor and his fitness for the important position he fills. The whole machinery is under his immediate care, superintendence, and direction, and on his shoulders rests a large share of the responsibility for the condition and standing of our departments of learning. Mr. Davis is regarded as a model Superintendent by all the best educators in the State, and no higher compliment could be paid him than that his schools are set up as patterns for others to follow. In retaining him the Board demonstrate their appreciation of real worth, as well as their deep interest in the prosperity of the schools.

From the High School graduate the scholars that have gone through the lower departments. Some leave this for college, others to enter upon business pursuits. They come by it well equipped for whatever duties fall to their hands. Under Mr. Hanson's admirable management the Woburn High School ranks with the very best. Aided by competent teachers, Principal Hanson sends out his graduating classes thoroughly fitted to enter the professions, the school-house, counting-room, or other posts of honor and responsibility, for he is an intelligent and pains-taking instructor.

The Board selects teachers for their fitness. Care is taken to "get the best," and the result is, a better or more efficient corps would be hard to find anywhere. Of course, now and then one is found who has mistaken his or her vocation. In a body of fifty or sixty teachers this is to be expected. But the "wedding process" is constantly going on, and the "survival of the fittest" is being demonstrated year by year. But the large majority are teachers of real merit, whose excellent work is duly appreciated.

Is coming, and previous to that time we shall offer some extraordinary Bargains in every line of goods.

CUMMING'S SCHOOL.

On Tuesday afternoon the annual exhibition of the Cummings School was given. As usual the great hall of the Cummings school-house was filled, the admission being by ticket to prevent the attendance of a crowd of such proportions as to exclude a large portion of it. That an idea of the literary exercises would scarcely justify special allusion to particular essayist however pleasant it might be to them or the writer. It is enough to say that their productions were honorable to the class and the very best kind of a "Reward of Merit" to their instructors. No graduating class from the Woburn High School has ever done better, and this is praise enough.

Piano Duet. — Edith C. Dow and Lizzie F. Calum. School Song. — "Vacation time has come once more." The House that Jack built." Florence Royce and Arthur W. Tidd. "Iodine." — Clara E. Peasey. School Song. — "Joy like that of wandering." "John the Baptist." — Charles W. Pollard. "The Book Peddler." — Gertrude Arnold. Walter Wyman. Lucy Barrett. Harry Hartwell.

Piano Solo. Belle Spimley. "Wanted, a Minister's Wife." Winnifred Larcom. "A Man's Experience in Cooking." Homer B. Grant. "Papa's Letter." Carrie B. Ferrin. "School Song." — The Enigrant's Song. "The Girl in the Window." — Adeline Hinckley. Kate D. Ramsell. Ada B. Chase. Florence E. Parkhurst. Gertrude M. Bickford. Rose E. Kenworthy. Alice H. Cottle.

Mabel Moore. Myron A. Day. "The Landlady of the Blue Hen." Raymond Dodge. Song. — "The Frogfoot Spellers." Solo by Kate A. Belcher. Chorus by School. "Michael's Mallet." — Arthur Wyrer. "Trials Adam escaped." — Clarence E. Littlefield. Piano Solo. Mabel T. Ellis. Select Chorus. — "Sunbeams are glancing." Playing School. — Annie H. Young. Janet T. Flint. Elsie R. Francis. Mary A. Callahan. Lillian E. Skinner. Fred M. Smith. Irving R. Bancroft.

"Leedie Yawc Strains." Harry Wyer. Piano Solo. Carrie A. Fowle. "Grandmother's Sermon." Edith L. Flagg. "Hezekiah Stubbin's Oration." Ozro Morrell. Vocal Duet, "Beautiful Moonlight." Grace Cummings and Katie A. Belcher. "A Mysterious Appearance." Fred F. Walker. Dumb Bell Exercise. — "How saved St. Michael's." — Mary C. Murray. School Song. — "Come, let's be gay."

The following pupils graduated from the Cummings School this year: — Katie A. Bell, Woburn, Lillian C. Brooks, Mary E. Callahan, Lizzie J. Calum, Jeremiah F. Joseph Lacus, Joseph F. Larkin, Rufus A. Lovering, Mary J. Lynch, Nellie J. McCarthy, Lizzie T. McGovern, Sarah E. McMahan, James A. McMurray, Mabel Moore, Mary C. Murray, Nellie E. O'Brien, Mamie W. Parker, Mary E. Read, Alfred F. Richardson, Alice M. Richardson, Minnie A. Simonds, Katie E. Tracy, John E. Wallace, Fred F. Walker, Mary W. Wellington.

The exercises were uniformly excellent, and all deserving of the highest commendation. Mr. W. E. Scofield, Head Master of the Cummings school, and the teachers were entitled to much credit for the admirable manner in which this excellent exhibition was given.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The graduating exercises of the High School were held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday afternoon. As usual the hall was crowded, though the heat was very uncomfortable. The room was decorated with flowers, plants, etc., and looked very lovely. The audience enjoyed the exercises, and each production received a generous recognition from the spectators. We give below the

Two Years Course. — Fred A. Sweetser, Harry S. Adams.

The graduates acquitted themselves with much credit. The themes were generally appropriate, their composition scholarly, and the delivery much above an average. It may be expected perhaps of the reporter to make particular mention of the essays of superior merit and their authors, but where all did so well such a course would hardly be fair. Then the uniform excellence of the literary exercises would scarcely justify special allusion to particular essayist however pleasant it might be to them or the writer. It is enough to say that their productions were honorable to the class and the very best kind of a "Reward of Merit" to their instructors. No graduating class from the Woburn High School has ever done better, and this is praise enough.

— Miss Elizabeth M. Brown of Woburn received the degree of A. B. from Wellesley College last Tuesday, from which famous school she graduated that day.

— The concert given on the Common by the National Band last Wednesday evening was good and drew a large crowd. This band plays first rate, and though some of their selections were not of the popular sort the concert gave great satisfaction.

— There is in progress a match game of base ball to be played by a nine selected from the ranks of the Woburn Phalanx and another nine composed of the former baseballists of which Woburn used to boast, and will be played on the morning of the 4th of July.

— Mr. Herbert L. Bryant has recently made some neat improvements in the vicinity of his residence, by having the sidewalks newly concreted and a beautiful and artistic flower bed constructed, filled with Springfield, Mass., who, during the evening, displayed rare talent in the manipulation of the ivories of the piano. It was indeed a jolly and interesting gathering, for singing, cornet and clarinet solos, choice exotics from the conservatory of Mr. E. R. Emery.

— Master Harrison G. Blake, who delivered the admirable Salutatory of the High School graduating class on Wednesday, will enter Harvard College this fall. He is promising young man with a plenty of brains to make a mark in the world with, if he puts them to a proper use, as he will no doubt.

— If you wish to see the very largest display of fireworks ever shown in Woburn look out at Curtis's show windows tomorrow morning. Prices lower than ever before. His store will be open all night Monday night to accommodate the public. He has a very large assortment of masks for the Antique Parade.

— The Fourth Middlesex District Court goes into operation Monday. A nice, comfortable and convenient court house has been finished off over Dodge's jewelry store, and Monday morning it is expected that Judge Converse and Clerk Johnson will unfurl the legal canvas to the breeze and set her to go.

— The exceptionally excellent quality of the oratory of the High School graduating class this year is highly complimentary to Miss Smith. The school's elocution in that which to decorate Lyceum Hall for our graduating exercises on Wednesday afternoon. His kindness will not soon be forgotten by us. — CLASS '82.

— "Claveland," an interesting personal sketch, will appear next week.

— A real good soaking rain is much needed hereabouts. At least vegetation needs it.

— Mr. Charles M. Strout has moved into one of the new Bancroft houses on Franklin street.

— Mr. Frank Pierce's popular shoe store has received new coats of paint and bloom outside a lily.

— Saturday and Sunday last were regular old scorchers, and Monday and Tuesday were only a trifle better.

— Mr. Joseph R. Green, Cashier of the First National Bank, has returned from his western trip, well and hearty.

— Mr. Rosengut has the agency for the New Home Sewing Machine, and is selling them. Read his card in this paper.

— The Woburn Phalanx, with the Fifth Regiment, will go into camp for five days on the State camping grounds, the 22d of August next.

— The St. Charles Sunday School will hold a picnic in Hiawatha Grove on the 4th of July. The intention is to make it a very pleasant affair.

— Last Tuesday evening a newspaper man and a saloon-keeper had a fight on Main street. It was about an even thing, and neither was greatly damaged.

— There will be a few changes in the corps of teachers in our public schools—only to the extent of filling the places of those who have married and resigned.

— Engineers have been at work on Main street this week preparatory to changing its grade and getting ready for grading the same. The engineers aforesaid have found it rather hot work.

— Mr. A. J. Parker was dangerously injured at the Norris planing mill, where he was at work, last Saturday, by being struck by a splinter. His injuries are very severe.

— The Sunday Globe contained a very good article on the Woburn Almshouse. The several excellent suggestions which it contained the Poor House Committee would do well to heed and improve.

— Mr. A. Cummings advises everybody to "Ring the Bells," and they are going to do it. It is now towards the close of the business season and merchants are running off the goods that they do not want to carry over, and this accounts for the extremely low figures at which Mr. Cummings is selling many of his wares. The truth is, he is offering big bargains in several lines of staple goods, and it stands our people in hand to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure some rare figures.

— One day last week we had a call from H. Tyndall, Esq., lawyer, 48 Congress street, City, who fetched us glad tidings of friends resident at Denver, Colorado, from which thrifty and very enterprising Rocky Mountain metropolis he, with Mr. Lane of Hudson, and five or six Boston gentlemen, had recently returned after a pleasant journey of some weeks therat. Our visitor waxed warm and even eloquent over the wealth and boundless resources of the Centennial State—her mines of precious metals, coal, etc.—agricultural possibilities, railroads, towns, and especially business, which is the commercial centre of that vast region of country, and is bound to be in the near future the biggest city that "lays outdoors."

— Though he had no information to impart respecting Greeley, a colony town seated on the flower banks of the beautiful Cache la Poudre, of which we have some peculiar memories, the visit of Mr. Tyndall was a pleasant one, all the same, and we hope to meet him again some time.

— Woburn Brass Band was engaged to furnish the music for the reunion of the 13th Regiment at Reading yesterday, and it is supposed they kept their engagement. The W. B. B. is in demand all over the lot.

— Last Saturday night Mary Fay, employed in the family of Mr. James Hanson, Principal of the High School, fell down the cellar and broke her back. She was at once taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where she now lies in a very critical condition.

— Woburn Brass Band was engaged to furnish the music for the reunion of the 13th Regiment at Reading yesterday, and it is supposed they kept their engagement. The W. B. B. is in demand all over the lot.

WINCHESTER.

There were two false fire alarms on Sunday.

Major Winn's dog-cart cuts quite a dash around town.

Last Tuesday the new flagstaff was raised on the Common.

The State Tax levied on Winchester for the current year is $5020.

The M. E. people held a pleasant tea-party in Carleton's Grove last Monday.

There is to be an Antique and Horrible turnout here on the morning of the 4th of July.

The old mahogany mill went for $10,300 to the Boston Lumber Co. It was dirt-cheap.

Considerable building is going on on Highland Avenue, a very pretty spot of ground.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Samuel B. White, a respected lady of this town, died much lamented.

James A. Dupee, Esq., has come back to his old stamping grounds, and taken up his abode with Mr. William Symonds.

Mr. Briggs of Boston is the architect on the Gramma School improvements. They are to be substantial as well as ornamental.

The Star nominates Hon. A. B. Coffin of Winchester for candidate for Congress from the Sixth District. The name of a better or more popular gentleman hasn't yet been mentioned for the place.

Mr. Charles Heywood a former respected citizen of Winchester and her Representative in the Legislature in 1861, died at his home in Gardner, this State, last Saturday. He was a member of the great chair manufacturing house of Heywood Brothers & Co.

Charles Elliot, a plumber, aged about 21 years, with two companions, went out on Wedge Pond in a boat last Sunday. While in swimming the two companions accidentally overturned the boat in which Elliot was sitting and he was drowned. It was a sad affair.

Something useful is bound to be accomplished by our Village Improvement Society. They are now discussing the utility of extending Highland Avenue, and making it a desirable locality for fine residences, which is a good thing. The Society will prove a blessing to our town in time.

Mr. Charles A. Conant, one of the most promising of our Winchester boys, has recently been added to the Boston Advertiser staff as stenographer in which he equal to the best they make. Charlie is an industrious, intelligent and well educated young man, and is bound to make his mark as a journalist.

On Wednesday, June 7, Dr. Adaline B. Church of this place, wife of our homoeopathic physician, B. T. Church, M. D., sailed from New York for Havre thence to Paris, where she will devote the season to October next in the study and practice of her profession. The fact that she receives compensation from the same school this year that exacted fees of her last is very complimentary to Mrs. Church as evidence that her services are valuable to the clinic and appreciated by the Paris doctors. She will return to Winchester this fall.

Mr. S. C. Small assumes the Presidency of the Reform Club next Sunday. More effort to be made hereafter to make the meetings attractive and interesting, and it is hoped the members of the Club and all good citizens will give their aid and encouragement to the work by attending these meetings, even if it is hot weather. The let-up on the part of the temperance workers for the past season is already showing itself by increased drunkenness and sales of liquors. Not enough being done by the authorities with the means at their command—$12,000 ought to hire force enough to do more than is now being done.

The Corse-McNeil bridal knot was tied last Thursday. It was done in church, in grave and orderly manner, and witnessed by quite a party of ladies and gentlemen. There was no gush or nonsense about it—merely a sober-sense, commonplace affair—just what might have been expected from sensible folks. There were refreshments after the exercise at the church, which some call a reception, others a breakfast, and-so-forth, at which quite a party of the friends of the gallant groom and lovely bride sat down. This part of the affair was exceedingly pleasant. After it, the bridal party started on their honey-moon voyage to New York and about, at the close of which, I suppose, they will settle down at Indianapolis, Ind., which is Gen. Corse's home. And may health, peace and prosperity attend them all along the path of life. This is how the Boston Courier notices it:

The wedding of General John M. Corse and Miss Fancy McNeil, at Winchester, last Thursday, was an "English morning wedding." There were four bridesmaids, little white hats and tan-colored gloves. After the wedding there was a reception until three o'clock, which party al fresco and was attended by a brilliant company. The newly married pair left for New York at four o'clock and in the evening there was a "bridesmaids' party," with supper and a collation.

A telephonic exchange will be opened here soon. There are already ten applicants for machines, and others are thinking over the matter. Mr. Clarkson is pushing the business.

It is proposed to "keep" the approaching "Glorious Fourth" in style here. Winchester is patriotic—no town more so—and has the means to celebrate our country's natal day with as much of the spread-eagle as any town in the county. She's going to do it.

We learn that some of the unruly boys of Winchester, chiefly on the "Plains," have recently been indulging in the rather dangerous amusement of throwing stones at the railroad cars passing to and fro on the Lowell road. Those boys would do well to remember that it is a State Prison offense and that the authorities of the road will undoubtedly have detectives set to watch them, and they may be snatched up before they know it. It is a very serious offence and ought to be visited with the law's severest penalty. We are pleased to learn that Rev. Father Roach has taken the matter with the determination to do all in his power to bring the young offenders to justice, and on last Sunday gave warning to that portion of his congregation living on Plains, that if any of their boys should be caught at this nefarious business, he would himself, on information, give notice to the authorities and have them punished.

A Winchester Nuisance.

WINCHESTER, June 25, 1882.

Editor, Woburn Journal:

I don't know of any better way of calling the attention of our citizens to a serious public nuisance than through your columns. I refer to the fact of the Lowell railroad making our town a depot not only for the bark used by our tannery close by the station (which is itself the biggest kind of a nuisance) but also of all that is used in the neighborhood, and even in your own city. The trains usually arrive in the night; and to say that they make night hideous with their infernal racket is to give but a slight idea of it. Sleep? You might as well try to sleep with a thousand demons beating on a thousand Chinese gongs around your bed. Get used to it? Don't try it unless you want to die a lingering death in the attempt. Why bring the quota of Woburn back to Winchester? We have enough and more than enough of our own. Let them build a side track to Woburn and switch off above, (north) of Winchester, and, meantime, will not some one make the suggestion in the proper quarter that it is not necessary to blow the whistle and ring the bells at night as if they desired to wake the dead? I am glad to know that our citizens seems to be waking up to the importance of improving our beautiful town. I hope they will not be content with putting up a new flag staff (though that is a tremendous tax on the ability of the Selectmen as well as on the resources of the town) but let them make a desperate struggle to rise to the comprehension of the importance of clearing away the nuisance of the old tannery, root and branch. CITIZENS,

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-dad! That's remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George, I know hops are good."

A Common Interest.

Mr. Editor—I believe in personal effort, in individual pride in looking out for No. 1, in fact, taking care of ones own concerns, because no one else has as much interest in my or your affairs as ourselves; but I have no fellowship or sympathy with that man who is so engrossed in his selfish purposes and measures, as not to have any time or inclination to devote a thought or lend a hand to his neighbor's or neighborhood improvement or interests. I don't like nor would I harbor a sentiment which shuts out the entire alphabet from an association with the universal pronoun I. In brief I am an advocate of all things that will bind us together in the strongest ties of a common interest, and make us workers together for the common weal.

Nothing will drive strife out of any community quicker, heal village differences, or settle town distinctions sooner than a hearty co-operation of store-keepers and farmers, lawyers and laborers, centres and suburbs, in which will advance the welfare of all and enhance the value of property.

It seems to me then, we not only should leave whatever will tend to produce a

The State Tax levied on Winchester for the current year is $5020.

The M. E. people held a pleasant tea-party in Carleton's Grove last Monday.

There is to be an Antique and Horrible turnout here on the morning of the 4th of July.

The old mahogany mill went for $10,300 to the Boston Lumber Co. It was dirt-cheap.

Considerable building is going on on Highland Avenue, a very pretty spot of ground.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Samuel B. White, a respected lady of this town, died much lamented.

James A. Dupee, Esq., has come back to his old stamping grounds, and taken up his abode with Mr. William Symonds.

Mr. Briggs of Boston is the architect on the Gramma School improvements. They are to be substantial as well as ornamental.

The Star nominates Hon. A. B. Coffin of Winchester for candidate for Congress from the Sixth District. The name of a better or more popular gentleman hasn't yet been mentioned for the place.

Mr. Charles Heywood a former respected citizen of Winchester and her Representative in the Legislature in 1861, died at his home in Gardner, this State, last Saturday. He was a member of the great chair manufacturing house of Heywood Brothers & Co.

Charles Elliot, a plumber, aged about 21 years, with two companions, went out on Wedge Pond in a boat last Sunday. While in swimming the two companions accidentally overturned the boat in which Elliot was sitting and he was drowned. It was a sad affair.

Something useful is bound to be accomplished by our Village Improvement Society. They are now discussing the utility of extending Highland Avenue, and making it a desirable locality for fine residences, which is a good thing. The Society will prove a blessing to our town in time.

Mr. Charles A. Conant, one of the most promising of our Winchester boys, has recently been added to the Boston Advertiser staff as stenographer in which he equal to the best they make. Charlie is an industrious, intelligent and well educated young man, and is bound to make his mark as a journalist.

On Wednesday, June 7, Dr. Adaline B. Church of this place, wife of our homoeopathic physician, B. T. Church, M. D., sailed from New York for Havre thence to Paris, where she will devote the season to October next in the study and practice of her profession. The fact that she receives compensation from the same school this year that exacted fees of her last is very complimentary to Mrs. Church as evidence that her services are valuable to the clinic and appreciated by the Paris doctors. She will return to Winchester this fall.

The Corse-McNeil bridal knot was tied last Thursday. It was done in church, in grave and orderly manner, and witnessed by quite a party of ladies and gentlemen. There was no gush or nonsense about it—merely a sober-sense, commonplace affair—just what might have been expected from sensible folks. There were refreshments after the exercise at the church, which some call a reception, others a breakfast, and-so-forth, at which quite a party of the friends of the gallant groom and lovely bride sat down. This part of the affair was exceedingly pleasant. After it, the bridal party started on their honey-moon voyage to New York and about, at the close of which, I suppose, they will settle down at Indianapolis, Ind., which is Gen. Corse's home. And may health, peace and prosperity attend them all along the path of life. This is how the Boston Courier notices it:

The wedding of General John M. Corse and Miss Fancy McNeil, at Winchester, last Thursday, was an "English morning wedding." There were four bridesmaids, little white hats and tan-colored gloves. After the wedding there was a reception until three o'clock, which party al fresco and was attended by a brilliant company. The newly married pair left for New York at four o'clock and in the evening there was a "bridesmaids' party," with supper and a collation.
